8 JEWS KILLED BY ARABS IN NEW OUTBREAK

Both Sides Speed Up Mobilization as Partition Showdown Nears.

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM, Dec. 8 — Eight Jews and an Arab died in communal fighting in Palestine today as both Jews and Arabs stepped up mobilization efforts for an anticipated showdown over the partitioning of the Holy Land.

Five Jews were slain by Arab gunfire in the bloody border area between the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv and all-Arab Jaffa. Arab stores and homes in the border region were set afire during the fighting.

Another Jew was killed by gunfire on the Jerusalem-Tel Aviv highway and a seventh was [illegible] to death in Jerusalem. Seven Jews and one Arab were killed last night.

The killings brought to 88 the unofficial count of fatalities in the Holy Land since the United Nations announced its decision on the partitioning of Palestine nine days ago.

Arab League Meets

Sharing the spotlight with the situation in Palestine were developments in Cairo, where leaders of the seven member nations of the Arab League met to decide the steps they should take to prevent implementation of the partitioning plan.

Some observers thought that the meeting might fix a zero hour for a general Arab uprising throughout the middleeast.

Crowds of Arabs were reported lining up before "recruiting centers" in all middle eastern countries, and in Palestine the Jewish press called Jewish youths to register for security duty at registration places which will be opened tomorrow.

Two Groups May Unite

Irgun Zvai Leumi, extrema underground group, indicated that it was ready to unite with the more moderate Hagana in the event of an open Arab-Jewish war

A Palestine government spokesman meanwhile denied press reports that British forces would begin a partial withdrawal from Palestine on Dec. 15.

"The only movement of security forces in Palestine," he said, "is the withdrawal of British and Arab police from Tel Aviv, Petah Tiqva and the Ramat Gan area."

British To Give Up Mandate May 15

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Dec. 8—Britain has informed the United Nations she intends to surrender her Palestine mandate May 15, government sources reported today.

The British suggested that independent Arab and Jewish states come into existence June 1, after a two-week transition period.

The same informants said the British government had authorized creation of Arab and Jewish civic guard organizations to maintain law and order in key Holy Land areas prior to gradual concentration of all British troops in evacuation "beachheads" around Haifa.

British troops are to be withdrawn from the Jewish areas of Tel Aviv, Petah Tiqva and Ramat Gan this month, it was said.

Seek Police Units

Meanwhile this country's diplomatic representatives are continuing negotiations with Trans-Jordan to obtain units of the Arab Legion to police strategically important parts of Arab Palestine, including oil pipeline and installation areas. Formations of the Arab legion already are in the Holy Land.

It was emphasized that the British plan for handing over power to Arabs and Jews was subject to approval of the United Nations commission of five nations. This commission would set up the provisional government during the proposed two-week transition.

Britain's final deadline for evacuation of her troops will remain Aug. 1 which was the limit originally set for surrender of her mandate.

Situation Pictured

The 26 year old British mandate over Palestine will end.

British civil and military administrators, including police, will cease to have any responsibility for the maintenance of order.

Most of Britain's estimated 75,000 troops will be concentrated in evacuation beachheads around Haifa, terminal of pipelines from the Iraq field and will, until they finally quit the country by Aug. 1, be responsible only for their own security.

Between now and May 15 Britain probably will transfer to Palestine 16,000 uncertified Jewish immigrants held in Cyprus, thus dispensing with the present 1,500 monthly immigration quota.

Guest Soloists from O. S. U. To Sing in "Messiah" Tuesday

Guest soloists from out of the city, Miss Elizabeth Pugh, soprano, and Norman Staiger, tenor, both members of the Ohio State university school of music faculty, will be heard at presentation of "The Messiah," Christmas oratorio, by the Marion Civic chorus Tuesday night. Mrs. Esther Hale, Marion musician, will sing the contralto parts of the work by Georg Freidrich Handel. The annual singing of the oratorio by the vested chorus of nearly 100 voices will be in Epworth Methodist church at 8 o'clock. Director is Prof Rexford Keller, head of the music department of Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware, and a string ensemble from Delaware will furnish orchestration.

An instructor in voice at Ohio State, Miss Pugh has made various concert appearances and has been soloist at churches in Covington, Ky., and in Cincinnati. She has been scheduled to appear as soloist in two other presentations of "The Messiah," in Springfield with the Springfield Symphony orchestra, and at Eastern State Teachers college, Richmond, Ky, this season. Other concert appearances have been with the Alabama Polytechnic Choral society, Auburn, Ala.; Antioch College Glee club, Yellow Springs, O., and Northwest Missouri Music guild, Maryville, Mo.

Cincinnati Graduate

She has made recital appearances in various Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia cities. Before coming to Ohio State, she taught voice at Salem college, Salem, W. Va. Her artist diploma and bachelor of music degree are from the College of Music at Cincinnati where she studied with F. C. Pugh and Mme. Lotte Leonard, and coached with Edgar Nelson and Arthur Burton in Chicago and Conrad V. Bos in New York City.

Mr. Staiger has been engaged in solo work a number of years He is an assistant professor in the voice department of the Ohio State school of music this year. As a guest soloist, he has appeared with the Toledo Choral society over a period of 12 years, Cleveland Civic chorus in "The Messiah," College of Wooster, Lorain Musical Arts, Painesville festival, Sandusky chorus, "The Messiah," and on one occasion appeared as guest conductor with Capt. Taylor Branson, director of the U. S. Marine band, at the annual Toledo High school festival. He has sung in churches of almost every faith, is regular soloist at Catholic services and has sung for a number of years the Kol Nidre on Yom Kippur eve for various Jewish congregations.

Columbus Soloist

This is his tenth year as soloist at the outstanding Presbyterian church, Church of the Covenant in Cleveland. He is soloist also for the Lake Erie consistory, Scottish rite. In secular music, he has appeared in or directed more than 80 dramatic and comic opera productions, and in radio has sung on commercial and sustaining programs in Cleveland and Toledo He appeared recently at Carnegie hall, New York City. His voice career started at an early age when he was considered a "boy soprano marvel." He was winner of the Northwestern Ohio Atwater-Kent audition in 1933, and had juvenile lead in premiere showing of the light opera, "Cyrano de Bergerac" sponsored by the University club of Toledo through J. J. Shubert.

Mrs. Hale is director of Epworth Methodist choir here, is chairman of sacred music for Lecture-Recital club and sang formerly with Westminster choir. She has been active in music circles a number of years and has done solo work often, several times appearing in the contralto solo part of "The Messiah." Two years ago at the annual Civic chorus presentation of the oratorio here she directed the chorus. She is president of Civic chorus.

The string ensemble will include Prof. Romine Hamilton of the Ohio Wesleyan music department, first violin, Mrs. Martha Bowles, viola, Jack Alexander, cello, and Peter Gregory, second violin. The organist will be Miss Maye Evangeline Lawrence, Mrs. H. T Williams, assistant, and pianist, Miss Rosaline Manzo, Mrs. Gerald Jennings assistant. Doors of the church will be open Tuesday at 7 p. m. There will be, as in previous years, no admission charge.

7 DIE IN GREENWICH APARTMENT BLAZE

Only One of Family Escapes Death in Trap.

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., Dec. 8—This was to have been the "best ever" Christmas for the family of Warnie Rice, one of 400 employes who shared in a $50,000 Yule bonus distributed by a Plymouth, O., firm.

But today Rice, his wife and five of their six children were dead, victims of a fire which destroyed their second-story apartment in neighboring Greenwich as they slept early yesterday.

Rice 48; his wife, Stella, 43; Donald, 18; Martha, 16; Robert, 15, and Roy, 4, died in the fire. Another son, Joe, 6, succumbed 15 hours later in a hospital at nearby Willard.

The other child, Dewey, 21 and a half-brother of Rice, Evert Ratliff, 25, escaped with minor burns.

Ratliff said the father died in a vain rescue attempt after first making his way down the stairway which was the apartment's only exit. Firemen carried Joe and Dewey out, and Evert brought Rice out.

Fire Chief H. S. McLaughlin said an overheated wood kitchen stove probably caused the fire.

McLaughlin reported that a truck driver who did not give his name turned in the alarm and reported that an explosion of accumulated coal gas occurred.

"The fire was not serious itself," McLaughlin said, "but peculiar because of the intense, confined heat which left the rest of the building untouched."

Dr. Jan D. Bradish, Huron county coroner gave a verdict of accidental deaths.

REPORT ICY BLAST ON WAY FROM WEST

By The Associated Press

Another fast-moving cold wave was overspreading a large area of the midwest today with prospects that temperatures would sink far below zero in most of the northern states by tomorrow morning.

The Chicago weather bureau said the icy blast, coming down from Canada, would bring temperatures ranging from zero to 5 below in northwestern Wisconsin and northwestern Iowa to as low as 15 below in northwestern Minnesota.

A storm described as of "marked intensity" and whipped along by strong winds was moving across Lake Huron today into Canada after leaving a layer of from three to six inches of new snow along its course through northwestern Iowa, northeastern Minnesota, northern Wisconsin and upper Michigan.

The forerunner of the predicted increasing cold for the midwest had reached as far as the Texas panhandle this morning where temperatures dipped to freezing.

RED STRIKE ON PARIS SUBWAY IN COLLAPSE

Walkout Scheduled for Today Meets Little Success as Workers Stay on Job.

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Dec. 8—The Communist-dominated general confederation of Labor (CGT) suffered a sharp setback today when a two-day strike of Paris subway and bus workers, scheduled to begin this morning, apparently collapsed.

At the same time a five-day "warning strike" of government workers, called by the CGT in an attempt to pull approximately 1,200,000 civil servants off their jobs, was meeting with dubious success.

The strike started for some groups of government employes last Friday and was due to extend to all departments this morning, but government officials declared their offices were functioning normally.

A spokesman for the Paris transport system said the subway and bus strike had been called off by the union because it was "a failure."

Fewer Trains Running

Despite statements by transport authorities that subway service was normal, subway riders noted there seemed to be fewer trains than usual and that they did not seem to be running at their usual speed.

Two persons were injured, one of them seriously, in attempts to halt transport in the Paris area this morning.

At Mairie o'Ivry terminus a dozen strikers tied up the assistant stationmaster and another employe, took their keys and cut telephone lines

A few hours before the subway and bus strike was called, the government announced the arrest of nearly 1,000 persons in a nationwide campaign against sabotage in strike-crippled industries.

Sabotage Continues

The interior ministry said that security police had made the arrests in the past eight days—about half of them Saturday and Sunday.

Despite these measures scattered reports of alleged sabotage continued to come in. Among these incidents was the derailment of the Lyon-Paris express yesterday near Vaise, where a section of track was reported unbolted.

There were no casualties and damage was reported as slight.

Apparently encouraged by developments on the strike front, Labor Minister Daniel Mayer said today that he believed an end to the work stoppages was "in sight."

Government sources said that many strikers had returned to work in the past week and that the total number out had receded considerably from the peak figure of between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000.

Dodgers Trade Walker, Two Others to Bucs

By The Associated Press

BROOKLYN, Dec. 8 — Dixie Walker, hard-hitting Brooklyn outfielder and pitchers Victor Lombardi and Hal Gregg were traded today to the Pittsburgh Pirates for shortstop William Cox and two other players, Branch Rickey announced.

No cash was involved, said Rickey, in revealing one of the most important trades of the year.

In addition to Cox the Dodgers acquired Elwin (Preacher) Roe, a left-handed pitcher, and Gene Mauch, utility infielder who had gone to Pittsburgh early in the season from Brooklyn in another deal.

Walker wound up the season with an unofficial batting average of 306, compared with Cox' .274.

Holt Takes Post as Head Of Springfield Schools

E. E. HOLT

TO LEAVE FOR LARGER FIELD

Will End Marion Service When Local Board Finds a a Successor.

E. E. Holt, superintendent of the Marion Public school system since June 1940, in a special meeting last night was named head of the Springfield schools, succeeding Homer S. Stephens, who resigned Aug. 31 after 11 years as superintendent. Mr. Holt will go to Springfield tomorrow for a meeting with the board of education at which time the formal appointment will be made.

Mr. Holt, who has been called for interviews by boards of education in Michigan and Ohio cities in recent months, informed the local board of education of the Springfield offer at an informal meeting last Friday night. At this time the board stated they would release him with the understanding that the release would become effective at such a time as a successor could be obtained, an agreement which met with the approval of Supt. Holt and the Springfield board of education. This could be anytime during the school year or not until the close of the term, J. D. Torrance, clerk of the board said today. The board started today making contacts regarding applicants. The naming of a successor to Supt. Holt will depend on the response received, Mr Torrance stated.

Selected from List of 50

Mr. Holt, who submitted his credentials at the request of the Springfield board of education, was selected from a list of more than 50 school men. The work will take him into a much larger school system and program. He will have the supervision of 25 schools, including one senior high school, with an enrollment of some 11,000 pupils.

Mr. Holt came to Marion from Hillsboro, O., succeeding C. A. Hudson whose term expired June 15, 1940. He is now serving his second five-year contract with the local board of education which would expire July 31, 1950.

The seven years of Supt Holt's administration of the Marion school system has been marked with accomplishments which have made for progress in the schools and community. A major project was the approval by the citizens of a $2,100,000 bond issue for a school program in May of 1946 which calls for a new junior-senior high school building, a new junior high school building and other improvements. The need of such a program was brought out in a building survey made by J. E. Irons, commissioner of housing for the Cleveland board of education which was followed by the local board adopting plans for a school housing program. The program was approved by the Civic Planning Association before being submitted to the voters.

Other Projects

Other items included in the program call for the complete remodeling of the Silver Street school and addition of a new community room; addition of a community room at Olney Avenue school; construction of interior fire resistant stair walls at Oak Street and the addition of a community room; installation of a cafeteria at Edison Junior High school; relighting and reconditioning of elementary school buildings generally.

The teaching staff was placed on a single salary schedule after Mr. Holt took over his duties and one of the far-reaching projects was the inauguration of the vocational conference held under the co-sponsorship of service clubs and labor organizations, a service which is one of the big factors in the school guidance program. A building has been constructed on the Harding High school site for vocational courses and the educational program in the senior high school has been broadened to include art, modern health courses and develop and equip a modern home economic department.

New Course Added

The addition of a cooperative commercial course and distributive education has broadened the students' field of career choosing and during the war years the vocational building was of invaluable use for the training of

Shappard Murder Trial Opens Here Tuesday

Ray Abraham Shappard, 32, of Prospect, is slated to go on trial for his life tomorrow morning. He will be tried for first degree murder after confessing to the brutal hammer slaying of Roxie Ann Green, 16, a Prospect High school sophomore, Sept. 19.

Common Pleas Judge Paul D Smith will preside and examination of prospective jurors will begin at 9 a. m. An original venire of 75 persons, more than a third of whom have already been excused from jury duty, has been bolstered by an additional 30 persons.

It is not probable that a jury will be seated by the time court adjourns tomorrow afternoon. Examination of jurors will be conducted by attorneys for both the prosecution and defense.

This may be done either in conjunction with the examination by the judge or after 13 jurors have been qualified by the court. Both the state and defense counsel have the right to excuse four jurors who in their opinion may for some reason or other be unqualified to render an impartial verdict.

In the event the latter procedure is used to select a jury, additional prospective jurors will be first examined by Judge Smith, then by the attorneys until a full jury has been seated.

Box May Be Hard To Fill

If the Shappard trial follows the pattern of the recent murder trial at Bellefontaine and the current trial at Lima, it may be several days before a full jury is impaneled. Many persons are reluctant to serve in cases where the extreme penalty may be demanded and in a case of a more or less sensational murder, may already have formed an opinion

The murder of Roxie Ann Green was thrown into prominence as the young girl had been missing for ten days before it was revealed she had been slain. A statewide hunt for the girl had run the gamut of speculation ranging from a mere elopement through kidnaping and foul play. Persons in Columbus and Cleveland had during the hunt claimed to have seen Roxie, once in a car with a companion and another couple eloping to Cattlettsburg, Ky., to be married and again in a disheveled and ragged condition at the Cleveland airport.

The girl actually was slain the day she disappered after failing to return home from a Prospect High school football game at Chesterville, on the evening of Sept. 19.

Shappard Questioned

Shappard was suspected in her disappearance from the start as the sheriff's office had linked his car to the approximate time and place Roxie was last seen. He was one of the first to be questioned but Sheriff LeRoy Retterer and his men were unable to shake his story that he was in Prospect at the time she disappeared.

Requestioned again on Sept 28, and undergoing a lie detector test, Shappard still had not incriminated himself. The test experts told Sheriff Retterer after the detector test that they were inclined, from the reaction Shappard gave to the key questions, to believe he'd got the wrong man

Shappard spent the night in the county jail, however, and the next morning after asking for and talking with his wife for a brief period, said he would "talk."

County Prosecutor James E Reed was summoned and in the presence of Reed and the sheriff, Shappard confessed he killed the girl. He then took officers to the spot where he had thrown the body.

He admitted picking Roxie up while she was walking from Prospect to her home about four miles northeast of Prospect on county road 124 He said he offered her a lift and she rode on a fender of his car until reaching her home. At that spot she jumped off the car, he said, and fell. He turned his car around, picked up Roxie who was unconscious and started for a doctor. He said he intended to take her to Delaware because he was too well known in Prospect. Roxie regained consciousness before he had gotten as far as Norton however and began to scream, so instead of turning south on Route 23 toward Delaware, he admitted continuing east along the secluded county line road. When the girl continued to scream, he stopped the car, grabbed a hammer and hit her over the head with it. He admitted hitting her several times and then throwing her into the weeds along the side of the road.

Threw Hammer Away

He got back into the car and after throwing the hammer away a short distance further on, returned home after stopping briefly at Waldo on an errand for his wife's people and at Prospect to pick up his wife. The couple went to a dance later that evening.

Following his confession on the morning of Sept. 29, a formal statement was taken the next day. The county prosecutor then brought Shappard into municipal court at 11:30 a. m. for arraignment where he unconcernedly entered a plea of guilty to the charge premeditated murder. Municipal Judge W. Dexter Hazen ordered him held without bond for consideration by the Marion county grand jury.

Prosecutor Reed recalled the grand jury, which had adjourned its regular session less than a week previous, for consideration of the charge against Shappard. The grand jury was given the case Oct. 3.

Shappard was indicted on a

BOY CRITICALLY BURNED BY OIL

Kerosene Explodes as Lad Attempts To Start Fire in Kitchen Range.

Carl Banks, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Banks of near Marion, was critically burned Saturday night when a kerosene can erploded as he was trying to build a fire. He was rushed to City hospital and his condition today was reported by hospital authorities to be "serious" with little chance of recovery.

The accident happened at 10 22 p. m. Saturday at the Banks home located about two miles west of Marion. According to reports, Carl and William, a 15-year-old brother, were alone in the home at the time.

The youth tried to kindle a fire in the kitchen range intending to cook an egg. The fire failed to start immediately and Carl picked up a five gallon can of kerosene and threw some of the fluid on the blaze The can exploded, splattering the flaming liquid over the boy, burning his clothes almost entirely from his body and setting fire to the kitchen.

William heard his brother scream and running from the front room through the burning kitchen attempted to extinguish his brother's blazing clothes. Carl broke away twice and ran outside before William could hold him long enough to cut the rest of the burning clothes from the boy's body. A passing motorist seeing the fire, stopped and rushed the youth to the hospital. More than two-thirds of the boy's body is covered with deep burns. William suffered burns on his hands and was treated by Marion firemen.

After Carl was taken from the farm, William carried water from an electric pump located near the

Dr. Butler, 44 Years President Of Columbia University, Dies

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 — Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, who died early yesterday of bronchial pneumonia, will be buried tomorrow after funeral services at 11 a. m. in St. Paul's chapel on the campus of Columbia university which he served as presidednt for 44 years.

The eminent educator and world peace advocate, 85 years old and blind in his last years, died at St. Luke's hospital where he had been taken ten days previous after an attack of indigestion.

Dr. Butler, president emeritus of Columbia since his retirement in 1945, requested that his funeral service be held in the chapel, although it seats only about 700 persons.

Dr. Butler, a native of Elizabeth, N. J., entered Columbia as a freshman at the age of 16 and from that time almost his entire life was spent there. He was decorated by 15 foreign nations and received honorary degrees from 38 institutions of learning.

One of the major accomplishments in Columbia's great expansion during Dr. Butler's regime was the establishment of the nation's first graduate school of journalism. He served on the Columbia faculty, and was dean from

CHECK CHILD'S STRANGE DEATH

16-Day-Old Son of State Parole Official Dies in Columbus.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 8—Authorities continued their investigation today into the "unusual" death of the 16-day-old son of Lawrence H. Hackenberg, vice chairman of the state pardon and parole commission and former secretary to Gov. Thomas J. Herbert

Sheriff Ralph J. Paul said the infant, whose name had not been chosen, apparently was injured early Sunday morning while his parents slept nearby, he termed circumstances surrounding the baby's death unusual.

Paul said Mrs. Hackenberg gave the following account of the tragedy:

She awakened about 3 a. m. to see another son, Lawrence Jr., 3, carrying the baby by the heels. "Mommy, I got baby brother," she said Lawrence Jr., told her.

Observing the infant was injured, she roused her husband and together they rushed the baby to University hospital. Oxygen was administered about 15 minutes before he was pronounced dead.

Coroner Mitchell A. Spyker performed an autopsy but withheld a verdict.

The Hackenbergs voluntarily submitted to questioning for about 12 hours at the sheriff's office and then returned home last night.

Paul said he conducted tests at the Hackenberg home by placing a life size doll in the dead baby's crib and asking Lawrence Jr., to lift it out.

The sheriff reported that the three-year-old boy could lift the doll but declined to pick it up by the heels.

"No, that would hurt him," he quoted the child as saying.

SETTLEMENT OFFERED IN 15 DAM TRACTS

By The Associated Press

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Dec. 8—Offers of settlement for 15 of the 88 tracts of land lying in the area to be inundated by the proposed reservoir of the new Delaware, O., dam have been received by the Huntingten district engineers, S. Ribakoff, chief of the real estate division announced today.

Ribakoff explained it was necessary for the engineers to obtain immediate writ of entry to property in Delaware, Morrow and Marion counties to permit clearing of brush and timber in preparation for the reservoir project. He said the work would not necessitate the moving of any property owners immeditely.

The government has appraised all of the 88 properties which lie in the proposed reservoir area between Delaware and Waldo.

Negotiations began about 10 days ago and Ribakoff said those offers received to date compare faborably with the government appraisal.

Ohio White Slave Cases Taken Up by Grand Jury

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 8 — A federal grand jury began hearing testimony today in the alleged white slave ring whose activities centered at Ironton, O.

The grand jury investigation followed a raid by FBI agents Nov. 22 in which 43 persons were arrested at Ironton. Subsequent arrests in Ohio and other states increased the number of men and women in custody to 61.

Sixteen of those arrested were charged with violating the Mann act. The 45 others were held as material witnesses.

2 ESCAPE AS TRAIN HITS CAR

Auto Turns into Path of Engine at N. State St. Crossing.

Eight traffic accidents, including one involving an Erie passenger train and a car, occurred in and near Marion during the weekend, according to reports today by Marion city police and state highway patrolmen.

Charles W. Briner, 36, of 249 Uhler avenue escaped injury at 12:35 a. m. today when the car he was driving was struck by a westbound Erie passenger train at the North State street crossing. Walter D. Briner of 944 Bryant street, a passenger in the car was also uninjured.

Police reported the car turned north on State from Mill street and apparently Briner failed to see the crossing watchman. Rhoda Ferris, 47, of Barnhart street was watchman.

Minor damage resulted to cars driven by Louis W. Keefer, 27, of 507 Windsor street and Robert N. Johnston, 23, of near Mt. Victory when they collided on West Center street near Campbell at 9:55 p. m. yesterday. Police said Keefer's car was stopped at the traffic light and Johnston's car failed to stop in time.

Three Cars Involved

A collision involving three cars occurring yesterday at 3:55 p. m. near 317 West Church street, resulted in considerable damage to all of the vehicles, police reported.

According to police a car driven by John E. Prichard, 30, of 221 Merchant avenue was backing from a driveway at 317 West Church street and struck a car driven by Nelson E. Moore, 22, of 790 Nelson street. Moore swerved out in an attempt to avoid the collision and struck a parked car owned by C. Summerfield of Kenton.

Considerable damage resulted to a car driven by Aaron F. Miley, 19, of 410 East Center street when it struck a utility pole on North Greenwood street at 3:12 p. m. yesterday after colliding with a car driven by John Eugene Brady, 19 of Springfield, police said.

The front end of a car driven by Clifford G. Harty, 20, of 301 Franklin street was damaged when he was unable to stop at 9:13 p. m. yesterday before colliding with a car driven by Ray B. Fischer, 19, of 220 Chicago avenue. Police reported the mishap occurred on South Grand avenue while Fischer's car was stopped for the traffic light.

Wilbur Ayler, 47, of Huntington, W. Va. suffered bruises when he lost control of a light truck he was driving and crashed into a utility pole yesterday on route 23 about six miles north of Marion. The impact sheared the pole off and resulted in considerable damage to the truck.

A collision on route 294 Saturday at 1 p. m. just east of Little Sandusky resulted in minor injuries to two of the persons involved, patrolmen reported. Lew Stull, 56, of near Upper Sandusky suffered bruises and shock when the car he was driving collided with one driven by Paul Gallant, 37, of near Martel. Joan Marie Gallant, 13, a passenger in the Martel car suffered a sprained ankle. Both of the injured persons were treated by an Upper Sandusky physician and released. Both vehicles were damaged considerably. Patrolmen said the collision occurred at the intersection of route 294 and county road 128.

James Cummings, 27, of Detroit was arrested by highway patrolmen at 1 p. m. yesterday and charged with reckless operation after he lost control of the car he was driving on route 23 and struck a utility pole. He is to appear before Mayor P. J. Foley of Delaware this afternoon.

Charles Bowman, 23, of near Marengo was arrested on route 61 in Morrow county by highway patrolmen Saturday night and charged with improper use of a spotlight. He is to appear before Mayor R. G. Booher of Mt. Gilead.

Dewey Handly, 24, of Upper Sandusky was arrested by state patrolmen Saturday at 5:10 p. m. and charged with passing another car at an intersection on Route 23. He is to appear in municipal court Dec. 13.

Iva Davis, 19, of near Marion and Paul Andrew Riedlinger, 18, of near Upper Sandusky were both arrested by state patrolmen Saturday night and each charged with failure to observe a stop sign on route 4.

William Howard Schwaderer, 38, of near Marion was arrested by highway patrolmen Saturday on route 4 for driving with insufficient lights on his car according to reports.

Lowell Paul Boger, 41, of near Cardington was arrested by patrolmen at 9:45 a. m. today on route 23 and charged with speeding. He is to appear before Major P. J. Foley tomorrow.

Curtis Eugene Francis, 19, of near Morral, charged with speeding on North Main street at 1:04 a. m. was arrested by city police. He was released after posting $25 bond until his appearance in municipal court.

Marion Henry Jones, 29, of near Marion was arrested by C. and O. railroad officials at 8:09 p. m. Saturday and charged with stealing coal. The arrest was made in the railroad yards.

Special to The Star

GALION, Dec. 8—The body of Pfc. Russell L. Prosser, Galion serviceman killed in Europe in 1944, will arrive here Tuesday at 9:35 a. m. and will be taken to the Snyder funeral home. The body is being returned here in accordance with a plan of the government to bring back to this country for burial bodies of servicemen who died overseas during World War II. Funeral services are set tentatively for Wednesday.

Pfc. Prosser served with the 112th Infantry division of the 1st Army. He entered service Oct. 28, 1943 and received his training at Camp Blanding, Fla., and at Ft. Benning, Ga. His death occurred Nov. 8, 1944, and his parents were notified by the war department from Washington, D. C. March 8, 1945. Before entering service he was an employe of the Galion Metallic Vault Co.

Born Jan. 18, 1925 in Crestline, he was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion O. Prosser.

Surviving with his parents are sisters and brothers, Mrs. Alicia McClung of near Mansfield, and Patricia, William, Robert, Wayne and Paul, all of Galion.

WORK TO AVERT OAK RIDGE STRIKE

By The United Press

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., Dec. 8—Labor's three major contract demands were still unsettled today as officials headed into the next-to-last day of negotiations to try to stave off a strike that threatened to interrupt atomic energy production here.

Some 2,800 United Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers (CIO) in the huge Carbide and Carbon Corp. uranium separation plant were scheduled to walk out at 11:01 a. m. Wednesday.

Five negotiators for each side were to resume talks today at 10 a. m. with Clyde Mills of the U. S. conciliation service.

More than 14 hours of discussion yesterday produced union-company agreement on five minor issues of a 24-point union program.

But the three major demands, topped by a requested 25-cents-an-hour wage increase, were still unsettled.

Both union and management officials appeared optimistic on settlement prospects last night when talks broke up at 12:30 a. m.

G. O. Robinson, public relations officer for the atomic energy commission here, said agreement had been reached on matters regarding arbitration, seniority, grievance procedure, holiday pay and checkoff of union dues.

The three main issues—general wage increases, extra pay for odd-hour shifts and sick leave—were still unsettled, Robinson said.

REPORT ROMANIANS SEARCH U.S. OFFICERS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—Official reports that police in Communist-dominated Romania searched the homes and automobiles of United States diplomatic and military officials were made public today by Senator Knowland (R-Calif.)

He said he would tell the senate that "our diplomatic and military personnel has been pushed around" in violation of ordinary diplomatic courtesy.

Knowland told reporters he first learned of the incidents of an overseas European inspection trip and that a cable from the American minister in Romania, Rudolf E. Schoenfeld, confirmed these instances:

1. Romanian "secret police" twice searched the home of a captain attached to the American military staff despite protests of the captain that his wife was "expecting an infant" and could not be disturbed.
2. A car carrying an American flag and "Secretary Ferugson of the American Legation" was halted by five men, including a uniformed policeman, and Ferguson was questioned "at gun point" and then detained 20 minutes.
3. Homes of a sergeant and a lieutenant on the American military staff also were searched "by secret police."

PARENTS MAY BE EVICTED—Freda Gibson, 17 months old, is solemn-faced, but not tearful, about the judge's decision that her crying is a nuisance and may lead to the loss of her parents' rented home in Memphis, Tenn., through eviction.

Sergeant Soon To Wed Is Robbed of $1,400

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., Dec. 8—Two men ambushed an Army sergeant here early today slugged him, cut him, robbed him of $1400—and unless the money is recovered soon, cancelled plans for a southern honeymoon.

The soldier, Staff Sgt. Hubert D. Greer, 36, White Pigeon, Mich., arrived in Dayton last night, planning to marry Miss Beulah McCann at her mother's home in Portsmouth, O., Wednesday.

In the sergeant's wallet were 10 $100 bills and eight $50 bills, savings of the past 18 months, which were to have been used for a wedding trip through the south, ending at Camp Lee, Va., his permanent station.

CONNALLY CALLS FOR TREATY RATIFICATION

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—Senator Connally (D-Texas) called today for ratification of the inter-American defense treaty, terming it "a challenge to any alien or foreign influence" which might seek to attack this hemisphere either openly or by infiltration.

The document, a product of last summer's conference at Rio De Janeiro, provides for all treaty nations to act jointly against any aggression in this part of the world.

Connally, ranking minority of the foreign relations committee, described the treaty as "a long step in the direction of guaranteeing the safety and security of the American republics from aggression or attack by any power outside this hemisphere."

Declaring that it embodies "the lofty principles" of the Monroe doctrine and "vitalizes and makes definite that it is a policy for the protection and security of all the American states," the Texan added in an address prepared for his colleagues.

Friendship Train Food Now on Way to France

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 8—Eight million pounds of food collected on the friendship train was enroute to France today on the U. S. Lines freighter American Leader, with arrival at Le Havre scheduled about a week before Christmas.

After a pier ceremony, the freighter sailed yesterday with the first friendship train shipment for the hungry.

I.C.C GRANTS 6% RAIL FARE BOOST

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—The interstate commerce commission today authorized increases in first class passenger fares on western railroads and in passenger coach fares on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroads.

The increase effective on all lines operating west of the Mississippi river amounts to 6.05 per cent for travel in sleeping and parlor cars.

This brings these charges even with the rate schedule authorized for first class travel in the east last June.

The ICC subsequently authorized to the New Haven involves a 15 per cent hike over the present coach fare rate of 2.5 cents per mile, raising the rate to 2.875 cents a mile.

The ICC subsequently authirized a temporary general 10 per cent increase in freight rates for all railroads. The roads are now seeking a 30 per cent permanent raise in the freight schedules.

In both cases acted upon today, the ICC authorized the increases to be made effective on five days notice to the public. Coach fares in the west, now 2.5 cents per mile, are not affected by the first class travel charge changes.

SINGLETON IS DUE IN COURT TODAY

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 8 — The astonishing transactions of used car dealer Jack Singleton still puzzled authorities today as they prepared to arraign the slick-talking ex-convict on a larceny-by-trick charge.

The statutory time limit of 10 days between booking and arraignment expires tomorrow for the 36-year-old car dealer. But his prosecutors still were uncertain whether to proceed with a hearing or ask for a continuance from Municipal Judge Perry B. Jackson.

Further continuance probably would prompt a request for reduction of the defendant's $100,000 bail. In default of that bail, Singleton has been in Cuyahoga county jail since Nov. 30 while 346 persons, including residents of a dozen northern Ohio counties, have come forward with claims totaling $77,054 for recovery of money they allege paying Singleton for cars he promised to deliver but did not.

Not All Heard From

And all the unhappy customers have not been heard from, for Singleton's practice of selling big, shiny cars at prices as much as $2,500 under what he paid for them in Detroit attracted a land-office business. He started selling last March, and the first 12 days of November — before going out of business—took in almost $40,000, one of his employes testified in bankruptcy court last week.

The bankruptcy hearings resume today with Singleton slated to take the witness stand while Morris B. Blane, receiver in bankruptcy, continues an attempt to uncover assets.

SEE EISENHOWER OUT BY JANUARY

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—Fresh indications that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower may step out of uniform in January coincided today with reports of increased activity in his behalf as a possible Republican presidential candidate.

Although the army chief of staff has been vague about his quitting time, there is evidence the previous schedule for him to take over the presidency of Columbia university April 1 has been speeded up by President Truman's action in naming Gen. Omar Bradley as his successor.

Bradley, whose transfer from head of the Veterans Administration back to the army was effective last Monday, will be available for his new assignment after Jan. 1. While Eisenhower may remain for a time to advise his successor, friends say that any extended stay is likely to become embarrassing for both men.

BIG FOUR AIMS AT SHOWDOWN

Secret Conference Held To Force Molotov's Hand in German Matter.

By The United Press

LONDON, Dec. 8—The foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France, discouraged by Soviet unwillingness to negotiate, held a secret conference late last night to prepare for a showdown with Russia at this session of the Big Four.

Secretary of State George C. Marshall announced that on his initiative British foreign secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Ministers Georges Bidault conferred with him at the United States embassy. The conference followed a reception Marshall gave for the American delegation.

Officials were most secretive about what was discussed, but there was little doubt that the tactics decided upon will force a showdown with Soviet Foreign Minister Viacheslav M. Molotov early this week — a showdown which will make or break this conference on Germany.

Last night's secret Big Three rump session coincided with obviously inspired stories in British newspapers this morning predicting failure of this conference and indicating that Marshall will have to bear the onus of bringing the fruitless discussion to an end.

Aides Say Little

Marshall's aides were most discreet in discussing the outlook but they could not hide their pessimism. They said the purpose of last night's secret Big Three meeting should be obvious after last Saturday's meeting of the foreign ministers council. Marshall warned the council then that it wa headed for the same kind of failure that broke up last spring's session in Moscow.

And when the ministers become hopelessly deadlocked even over how they should discuss the basic German problem, Marshall asked: "What do we do next?"

British, American and French quarters all conceded that the question of progress or failure of the conference rests totally in the hands of Molotov. If he continues his "generalization" and "propagandizing" and refuses to get down to business, the others are expected to try to speed up the finale.

Even so it may take a good many sessions to do even that, once there is agreement to disagree. The first secret meeting of the Big Three foreign ministers came after both Marshall and Bevin had dined separately with Molotov and found him unwilling to talk business even in such a private and personal atmosphere.

Dulles Rebuffed

The showdown stage of this conference came among these other developments: John Foster Dulles, the leading Republican member of the American delegation, received a cold reception from Marshall and the others after his return from a series of conferences with the highest French officials in Paris.

Dulles had lunch with Bidault, who was represented as incensed by Dulles' conference with Gen. Charles De Gaulle, Bidault's political enemy.

The American delegation, admitting this session of the foreign ministers conference was all but a failure, prepared nevertheless for any kind of Molotov surprise. They would not be surprised—in fact they fear—that Molotov might even be prepared to renounce all Soviet reparations claims against Germany as a magnanimous gesture to the Germans, whom he has been courting at this meeting.

If this meeting ends in failure, the U. S. will be prepared to enter what they acknowledged will be "even more difficult negotiations"—unifying the three western zones of Germany economically.

Informed sources said Dulles was spared a reprimand from Marshall only because of his position in the Republican party.

These sources said, however, that if any other member of the American delegation had done what Dulles did, he would have been sent home at once.

"One of the first rules of diplomacy is to deal with the government in power," one high American official said.

Section of Route 13 To Be Relocated

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 8—The Federal Public Roads administration has aproved the relocation and rebuilding of three and one-half miles of state route 13 north of Mansfield, State Highway Director Murray D. Shaffer said today.

The $500,000 project for grading, draining and paving a two-lane highway will be financed principally by federal and state funds. The relocation was made necessary by the construction of the Mansfield airport astride the old highway. Traffic north of Mansfield now is being detoured by way of Ashland.

TRUMAN RETURNS TO WASHINGTON

By The Associated Press

KEY WEST, Fla., Dec. 8—President Truman, tanned and refreshed by five days in Florida's sunshine, returns to Washington today to complete work on his new message to congress calling for a long-range European recovery plan.

He instructed Lt. Col. Henry T. (Hank) Myers to tune up the DC-4, the "Sacred Cow," for a 10:30 a. m. takeoff from the nearby Boca Chica airport. This should put him in Washington around 3 p. m.

The President spent most of his time here catching up on lost sleep, sunbathing and swimming. He flew to Everglades City, Fla., Saturday for a speech dedicating the Everglades national park.

The speech, before an audience officially estimated at 4,500, was largely devoted to the administration's natural resources conservation policy.

While Mr. Truman directed sharp criticism at what he called "hogs" who would use resources for the benefit of the few, he did not name names.

FOREIGN AID BILL ROLLS TOWARD VOTE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 — The emergency foreign aid bill rolled toward a series of test ballots in the house today with a top Republican opponent forecasting final passage by an overwhelming margin.

Chairman Leo Allen (R-Ill) of the rules committee told a reporter there would be no more than 75 votes against the bill. The house has 434 members and one vacancy.

That final vote could come late today, but it is more probable sometime tomorrow. First, the house had to act on various amendments to raise or lower the $590,000,000 total or tie restrictions to the assistance the bill would provide for France, Italy, Austria and China.

1,400 SHARE IN SECURITY PAY

Residents of 4 Counties in Marion District Draw $26,000 Monthly.

[illegible] than 1,400 residents of [illegible] and three adjoining counties [illegible] drawing approximately [illegible] in aggregate total of [illegible] benefits in federal old [illegible] survivors insurance payments, G. L. Schlueter, manager [illegible] Marion Social Security Administration field office announced today.

Although 1,452 residents of Delaware, Marion, Union and Wyandot counties served by the Marion office are drawing a total [illegible] monthly, Mr. Schleuter expressed concern over the fact [illegible] many others are losing benefits because they have failed to file a claim for them.

"Payments under federal old age and survivors insurance are not automatic but claims must be filed with the social security administration before payments can be made," he said.

120,306 Ohioans Share

During the month of June the treasury department paid a total of $35,071,472 in monthly benefits to 1,832,285 beneficiaries. Of this total, $2,418,061 was paid to 120,306 Ohio residents.

Over half of those receiving payments were retired workers, wives, children under 18 with the balance going to widows over 65 of deceased workers, widows with children under 18 and to dependent parents.

Monthly benefits are also paid under certain circumstances, he said, to the parents of a deceased wage earner who was their chief support. In addition to the benefits listed above, which are actual payments, a large number of persons who are working in employment covered by the program, are otherwise eligible to receive benefits. If a wage earner dies leaving no dependents eligible for monthly payments at the time of his death, a lump-sum death payment may be made. In the month of June 16,727 lump-sum death payments totalling $2,003,995 were made to residents of Ohio.

Figures by Counties

A breakdown of the distribution of payments in the four county area follows, with figures showing the number of beneficiaries and the amount of monthly payments:

Total in four counties served by Marion, Ohio, field office, 1,452, $25,825; retired workers over 65, 614, $13,856; wives over 65, 193, $2,295; widows over 65, 122, $2,361; widows (any age) with children in their care, 104, $2,083; children, 417, $5,206.

Marion county totals, 772, $13,853; retired workers over 65, 308, $7,075; wives over 65, 104, $1,244; widows over 65, 80, $1,563; widows (any age) with children in their care, 55, $1,145; children, 224, $2,814.

Delaware county totals, 313, $5,570; retired workers over 65, 117, $2,749; wives over 65, 39, $489; widows over 65, 18, $345; widows (any age) with children in their care, 26, $524; children, 113, $1,463.

Union county totals, 173, $2,963; retired workers over 65, 88, $1,812; wives over 65, 22, $244; widows over 65, 8, $153; widows (any age) with children in their care, 13, $229; children, 44, $525.

Wyandot county totals, 190, $3,439; retired workers over 65, 101, $2,220; wives over 65, 28, $318; widows over 65, 16, $300; widows (any age) with children in their care, 10, $185; children, 34, $404.

Officers Are Elected By Protected Home Circle

Election of officers of Marion Circle No. 184, P. H. C., was held Friday night at the lodge hall with Teddy Jackson elected president. Mrs. Myrtle Buckingham was elected vice president; Mrs. Ruth Arndt, secretary; Mrs. Helen Johnson, treasurer; Mrs. Margaret Russell, guardian; Roy Russell, chaplain; Mrs. Helen Jackson, guide; C. I. Smithson, companion; Mrs. Marie Schultz, trustee; Mrs. Minnie Van Asbeck, pianist; Mrs. Elizabeth Crider, sentinel; Mrs. Estella Huffman, watchman; Mrs. Johnson, team captain; and Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Arndt, delegates. Because of resignation of Robert Holcomb, Mrs. Schultz was nominated and installed in that position for the current term. Carl Daly is past president. One candidate for membership was obligated by the degree team, and the charter was draped honoring the memory of William Berry, a member whose death occurred recently. Mrs. Van Asbeck sang solos. After the circle meeting, a short business session was held by the degree team and the team Christmas exchange was held. Games were in charge of Mrs. Russell. Installation of officers will be held the first part of January.

UHLER'S

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

WELL, it looks like they may psychoanalyze Santa Claus.

Because some child psychology experts say picking Christmas gifts for children is fraught with dangerous possibilities.

They warn that the wrong gift may derange a child's personality, frustrate him in a way to change his whole life, or even give him a "psychosis." Which is a four-bit scare word meaning he may need a mental doctor.

This is only further proof that one of the fine arts of this technological age we live in is to make easy things seem difficult, so that anybody nowadays who doesn't spend at least half an hour cooking a three-minute egg is hopelessly old-fashioned.

BOYLE

But it is going too far to blame Santa Claus for ruining Al Capone because maybe once when Al was a boy he found a toy pistol in his Christmas stocking when what he really wanted was a pamphlet on how to figure an income tax return.

It is one of the big lessons in any child's life that he can't expect to get his heart's desire for nothing all the time—even from a saint like Nicholas.

Philanthropy often fumbles. If little junior is going to get permanent lumps on his ego because he can't sandbag Santa Claus with 100 per cent success, he just bruises too easily to enjoy this vale of frustration. The parent would do better to buy him an ivory tower at birth and stock it with enough rations for his lifetime.

AND, FURTHERMORE, if junior is going to decide against becoming an engineer merely because his maiden aunt gave him a toy construction set too hard for him to figure out—that's well and good for everybody. Who'd want to ride across any bridge built later by a boy who gave up that easily?

Picking Christmas gifts for children doesn't call for any more psychology than the common sense anybody has. It is generally a matter of compromise between what the kids want and what the family budget will allow, and 90 per cent of the time the budget can't stand the entire gaff.

All you can do is to do the best for your kids as you know them, and if your mistakes foil them so they turn to a life of crime in revenge, don't worry—they'll ask you to arrange the bail bond.

CHILDREN BARELY GET as much as they expect for Christmas, and you can spoil their characters as easily by giving them too much as too little. The two things I thought I wanted most as a boy—a printing set and a bicycle—I never got.

"They'd bankrupt Santa Claus; you'll have to save up and buy them for yourself," said my wise father, who had five kids. He knew the requests were passing fancies.

They were. I found I wanted to splurge on ice cream cones more than I wanted to become another Benjamin Franklin. Later I earned extra spending money pedaling aspirin to people with hangovers. The drug store owned the bike, and I wouldn't have had one of the things myself if they gave them to you for listening to radio programs.

No, Christmas wasn't meant to compete with heaven. It's just a foretaste—an interlude of gladness, warmed by a spirit of loving kindness that leads people to do some little things for both children and grownups with no thought of a bonus back.

And they'll ruin the whole spirit if they worry Santa Claus into taking a post-graduate university course in child psychology.

GREEN CAMP MEETING

HUSBAND BLAMES FOOD SITUATION FOR TROUBLES

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Dec. 8 — Elmo Skinner filed suit for divorce today, blaming the food situation for his marital troubles and declaring his wife, Nora Mae, "has acquired a hog and 40 chickens at Log Lick, Ky. . . . where she prefers to remain, the world food situation being what it is. . . ."

Petitioning for a divorce on the grounds of gross neglect, Skinner asked that "Nora Mae, having made her choice of the hog and chickens, be allowed to fatten thereon" and leave him in peace "with the marriage bond surrendered."

Skinner's suit, filed by Attorney J. W. Brown, also blames "the President's food conservation program, with its emphasis on conserving meat and poultry, with contributing to Elmo's undoing."

PROSPECT CIRCLE MEETS

Dorcas Circle of the Prospect Zion Evangelical and Reformed church met Thursday night in the church parish house with Mrs. E. W. Guinther, Mrs. Wilfred Knickel and Miss Dorothy Horn as hostesses. Decorations were in keeping with the Christmas season. The program, in charge of Mrs. Wilfred Knickel, consisted of a song by the group; scripture read by Miss Edna Stockwell, prayer poem by Mrs. Carl Hetzner, poem by Mrs Ernest Gast, story by Mrs. Knickel ;and a song by the group. Gifts were collected for the children of the Shanondale Mission in the Ozarks for Christmas. Mrs. Taylor Pine was a guest.

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

MOTORISTS may be asked shortly by the President to cut down voluntarily on pleasure driving to save gasoline.

This points up a national problem in oil and in coal, too. Here's an explanation which government officials give.

Take oil, first.

Oil production this year is expected to reach a record high. Yet, it's not enough. The demand is greater than the supply.

Why? Several reasons. There's a shortage of tankers, pipe lines and tank cars to move oil around.

MARLOW

There's a shortage of the tools oil men need for searching out new fields and developing those they find.

And this shortage of tools is due to the shortage of steel to make the tools. The demand for steel also is greater than the supply.

The government expects some shortage of oil next year in states east of the Rockies.

Officials paint this picture:

The demand for gasoline for farm work is almost double what it was before the war.

The demand for gasoline for motor cars and trucks is a lot higher than before the war.

RAILROADS HAVE BEEN using more and more diesel oil. The use of it has been increasing at a rate of 40 per cent a year.

This winter the demand for oil for home heating will be 50 per cent higher than before the war.

And the demand for oil by various industries has increased.

Now take coal.

There's a shortage of certain kinds of coal in certain parts of the country. The main reason is a shortage of coal cars to move it when it's mined.

When coal is mined it has to be hauled away because there's no place around the mines for storing it.

So a lack of cars to do the hauling cuts down on coal production.

OSCAR L. CHAPMAN, undersecretary of the interior, told congress last week:

"If it were not for the coal car shortage, it is believed that sufficient coal could be produced in the United States to meet domestice demands as well as Europe's most pressing needs."

The coal car shortage has meant a cut in the mining of better quality household coal in West Virginia and, to some extent anthracite (hard) coal.

This has caused a temporary shortage of those coals in some mid-western, south eastern and New England areas.

CHARGE INADEQUATE VET MEDICAL CARE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 8—Disabled American Veterans of Ohio today sent to President Truman and congress a resolution charging the federal government with denying disabled vets adequate medical care "for the sake of economy."

The situation, the Ohio D.A.V. asserted in a resolution released by Commander Albert L. Croy, is of "much greater importance" than sending billions of dollars overseas to Europe.

"Veterans Administration hospitals in Ohio are filled," the resolution said, "with waiting lists upward to in excess of 1,000 at Dayton."

V.A. service for disabled veterans is "nearing the breaking point of collapse" because "many municipal and private hospitals in Ohio cities, notably Cincinnati, are refusing to accept war-time disabled veterans for treatment on government authorization and are demanding cash guarantees by the veterans before admitting them due to the long delay in payment of bills," it said.

The Ohio D.A.V. appealed for a deficiency appropriation "sufficient to maintain adequate medical service for the nation's wartime disabled" because the VA in Ohio reportedly is requiring further cuts in the medical program due to a shortage of funds.

That Man's Here Again

THROUGH Philip Murray, the Congress of Industrial Organizations is beginning to put on the pressure for a third round of wage increases. The campaign was expected, just as a campaign for a fourth round can be anticipated unless steps are taken to halt the vicious spiral. Perhaps the underlying purpose in Mr. Murray's statement was to bring the issue into the open.

Some of Mr. Murray's assertions are the customary hyperbole which finds its way into declarations of this sort. "Greedy profiteering," he cries, "and monopolistic control of prices are establishing fantastic returns for industry while the living standards of the American people are steadily deteriorating." The profits of which he speaks are computed in the same inflated dollars which pay the workers' wages. By the standards of the 1930's they are large; they are not so large today.

Labor Secretary Schwellenbach has asked for a wage board within his department to promote voluntary cooperation between management and labor on the wage-price situation. Such a board might study the steps taken in Norway, where all concerned have recognized the interrelation of wages anad prices. Through a voluntary program, wages have been geared to the cost of living index, with labor having the right to institute wage negotiations when the index goes above 160.6. Costs so far have stayed below that mark. Norway's economy, of course, is far less complex than ours, but the idea may be adaptable to a larger pattern.

Senator Taft has said higher prices would be preferable to reestablishment of controls. Many will question this. Mr. Murray assumes that industry could absorb another wave of wage increases without raising prices. Many will question this. What no one will question is that some tangible steps must be taken without delay to halt the price-wage spiral.

Recorded Conversations

THE federal communications commission has decided recording devices may be used to preserve telephone conversations provided the speaker is notified by "a short beep" that his voice is being recorded.

Recorded conversations have been giving the FCC a lot of worry. In some cases recording devices may be a means of entrapment or other legalistic sharp practice. To circumvent this, the commission believes the "beep" repeated at 15-second intervals will put the speaker on the alert. But will it? It will be years before this fact is generally known to other than sharpies who make a point of knowing such things.

It would be better if some system could be worked out whereby the speaker would be notified at the start of any conversation that anything he says may be held against him. Or perhaps all that would be needed would be a suave voice saying, "This talk is being transcribed for presentation at a more convenient time."

Not for The Record

THE Louisiana gubernatorial campaign, which is coming to a fierce boil well in advance of the January primaries, has been spilling over into Washington.

The Congressional Record has published some scorching correspondence which should be left to discussion in campaign speeches. Representative Morrison, one of the candidates for governor, had his platform, covering two and one-half pages, published in the Record at public expense presumably on the assumption that the nation is eager to know where he stands on state reforestation and water-hyacinth control.

If other states follow Louisiana's example and carry their political campaigns to the pages of the Record, it will assume the size of a mail-order house catalog—and be far less interesting. The Record should be an account of congressional proceedings, not a laundry for any state's dirty linen.

Uneasy Lies the Head

FRIDAY night's championship fight indicates the day isn't far away when the heavyweight crown will rest upon another head. Time and years of comparative inactivity are slowing up Joe Louis so that he isn't a patch on his old self. That he was hard pressed to stay 15 rounds with a lightly-regarded opponent is a sign he is past his prime.

Many thought the title should have passed to Joe Walcott on the basis of Friday's fight, but they overlook an unwritten prize ring maxim. It is that when a championship changes hands it should be either by a knockout or a decision so clear-cut as to be virtually unanimous. Friday's fight wasn't that one-sided.

It's possible Louis may elect to yield the title by retiring instead of submitting to the ignominy of defeat. If he does that will not tarnish his record. He has been a terrific fighter, he has worn his laurels with good grace, and his conduct outside the ring has been a credit to himself and to his race.

Steam Locomotives for Poland.

ON April 24, 1946, subsequent to Poland becoming a puppet of Soviet Russia, the Export-Import bank, an agency of the government of the United States, with the consent of the state department, made a loan to Poland of $40,000,000 and extended further credits to Poland of $50,000,000 to purchase surplus American property held in Europe. These loans, amounting to $90,000,000 were unsecured.

At the time the loan was made, the state department issued the following explanation:

SOKOLSKY

"It has been and will continue to be the policy of the United States government to assist the Polish people in their valiant efforts to overcome the destruction and devastation of the war . . . In view of this government, however, economic freedom and political freedom are interdependent, and for that reason, this government has made it clear on numerous occasions that the election commitments undertaken by Poland at Yalta and Potsdam must be fulfilled in their entirely. It remains true today, as it was when that pledge was first given, that for the Polish people to achieve their goals of freedom and democracy, they must be given the opportunity freely to elect a government which represents the will of the Polish people."

Poland, in spite of this $90,000,000, did not live up to its "election commitments;" instead, Poland has gone through a political terror, has become a police state, utterly and completely dominated by Soviet Russia, still, they got the credit of $90,000,000.

Doubts Removed

Now we come to November, 1947. There is no longer any doubt as to the character of the government of Poland. There is no longer any possible doubt that Poland's coal during 1946-1947 was shipped into Soviet Russia, even depriving the Poles. Nevertheless, the United States shipped locomotives to Poland—made of American steel—at a time when we suffer from a steel shortage and Secretary of Commerce Averell Tarriman proposes rationing steel for American consumption.

The Polish credit is to be used as follows, according to the export-import bank:

Steam locomotives, including spare parts, $16,000,000; machine tools and similar equipment for railway repair shops and track maintenance, $15,000,000; coal mining equipment, $5,000,000; railway communications equipment, $4,000,000.

Acting Secretary of State Lovett makes this point that the credit of $40,000,000 to Poland was for the purpose of helping that country to purchase coal cars and locomotives in the United States in order to facilitate the transportation of coal from Poland to western Europe and the Balkans.

Stimulant for Industry

A further excuse seems to be that the steam locomotive manufacturers need a subsidy and this is one way to give it to them. In other words, what seems to be an obsolescent industry is to be kept alive by shipping our irreplaceable steel abroad.

This is the argument:

". . . We (the Export-Import bank) were informed by locomotive manufacturers in the United States that, although their plants could produce approximately 1,800 steam locomotives per year, they had orders from U. S. railroads for only 80 steam locomotives. It is our understanding that this situation has not materially changed and that, although the locomotive manufacturers have a considerable backlog of orders from U. S. railways for diesel locomotives, they are desperately in need of orders to keep the plants in which they produce steam locomotives in operation."

It is true that the manufacturers of the steam locomotives can produce an annual average of 1,800 steam locomotives, varying as to size and type. They now have orders for a total of about 200 steam locomotives; 35 for American consumption; 165 for foreign consumption. But approximately 1,000 Diesel electric locomotives are now on order, principally for American railroads. These diesel locomotives vary from one to four units per locomotive and the horsepower ranges from 60 to 6,000 each.

So what it comes to is that most American railroads want diesel electric locomotives, and the steam locomotive is passing out. The American manufacturers of steam locomotives ought to shift from an unwanted to a wanted commodity or go out of business. Instead, they and the state department and the Export-Import bank cook up orders for 165 steam locomotives to be sent abroad but paid for by the American taxpayer and using American steel of which we say we have a shortage.

If We Can't Send Aid, Then Let's Send Congress

He won't have any trouble getting back to work. Everything is just the way he left it, including congress.

Increasingly, it becomes apparent that this is an emergency session in name only.

Congress' idea of coping with a crisis seems to be to ignore it in hopes that it will go away.

Of course, there is this to be said about congress' delay in providing relief for starving Europe: Every hour it delays, there are that many fewer mouths to feed.

Incidentally, I wouldn't be at all surprised if, after a few days in Miami, President Truman comes back and renews his demand that congress do something about inflation.

Flattering Picture of Stalin

By Walter Lippmann

THE other day while reading the newspaper reports of a speech by Bullitt I found myself wondering what Joseph Stalin would make of it. It was from Stalin's point of view a most extraordinary flattering picture that Mr. Bullitt painted. There is a man, said Mr. Bullitt, who will "eventually" mobilize "all the resources of Europe and Asia against us."

He will "organize" 450,000,000 Chinese. He will organize 350,000,000 Moslems and Hindus of India. He will organize the Arabs. He will organize all the French, Italians, Germans, Poles, Scandinavians. He will organize them into "overwhelming masses of men and machines."

Stalin is, in short, at once Caesar, Napoleon, Hitler, Gengnis Khan, the Great Mogul, and the biggest Manchu of them all. If Mr. Bullitt's estimate of Stalin's ability is even approximately correct, then we are dealing not with a man but with Superman himself.

The purpose of this kind of hysterical agitation is, presumably, to rouse the country and persuade it to give money, arms, and men to Chiang Kai-shek and to everyone else in Asia and Europe who is struggling with communists. We cannot afford, I believe, to let ourselves be rattled by this kind of agitation. It can lead only to the squandering of our wealth, our power, and of our influence in an immense diplomatic disaster.

For the American people are not rich enough, the United States does not have the troops, and it does not have the political influence required to intervene decisively and effectively all over Asia and all over Europe.

The practical result of the kind of policy Mr. Bullitt is agitating for would be to entangle us at so many places, commit us irrevocably in so many widely separated conflicts, that we would lack the resources and the energy to be successful anywhere. This is not foreign policy but diplomatic boondoggling, of which, considering the results in Korea and in Greece, we have had quite enough.

The difference between Mr. Marshall's foreign policy and what preceded it is that Mr. Marshall has been acting on the strategic principle that a nation must concentrate its effort at the point where the greatest results can be obtained. In his China policy and in his European policy Mr. Marshall has been seeking to correct the error, which we had fallen into, of dispersing our effort on secondary objectives while we neglected our primary objectives.

Mr Marshall has had, of course, to carry on as best he could the commitments which he inherited. But the policy which, quite justly, bears his name—the Marshall plan—calls for a concentration of American effort at that point on the face of the earth where our civilization is most deeply threatened, and where on the other hand, there are the greatest opportunities for the recovery and the revival of our civilization. That point is not China. It is not the Middle East. It is not the Balkan peninsula. It is in the British commonwealth, in France, in Scandinavia, in the Benelux countries and in Italy.

It is there that the struggle will be won or lost, in the advanced countries, not in the backward ones. It will take our utmost effort to succeed. But if we entangle ourselves in many other places, we shall not have the resources that are necessary if we are to succeed. We shall have made the catastrophic mistake of trying to do so many things that we do none of them successfully.

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Wednesday, Dec. 8, 1937.

A large portion of the country was caught in a cold wave that promised no relief following a temperature drop to 16 degrees in the afternoon. At Casper, Wyo. the official reading was 26 degrees below zero.

"In the city one sees nothing but Jap trucks, autos painted olive drab with officers in them, Jap soldiers marching here and there" Rev. Bliss Wiant, professor of music at Yenching univerity in Peiping wrote in a letter to his brother, Rev. Stanley W. Wiant, pastor of Wesley M. E. church.

Paul Eugene Wheeler, 29, dance band leader, died at his home on Windsor street following a sudden relapse from shotgun bullet wounds received in a hunting accident on Nov. 15.

Thirty-five couples attended the annual dinner dance held by the Nine to Twelve Dance club. Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Holland were chairmen of the host and hostess committee.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Schmidt of Silver street entertained at their home for their son and daughter, Dana Ray and Donna Mae, who were celebrating their sixteenth birthday anniversary.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, Dec. 8, 1927.

Earl E. Thomas, Marion county auditor, was appointed a member of the legislative committee of the County Auditors Association of Ohio at its annual meeting in Columbus.

It was announced that Marion's Christmas savings totalling $133,000 would be distributed to 3,600 depositors Friday.

Health Commissioner W. J. Weiser reported that more than 500 children in the first and second grades in the city had been given Schick tests during November.

Marion was in the midst of a cold wave, the mercury dropping to four degrees above zero.

A Junior Chamber of Commerce was organized by a group of young men at a meeting held in the office of C. H. Conley on South Main street. Rhu C. Cheney was elected president, Paul E. The Reluctant Crusade

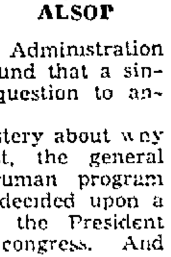
By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—Washington is now witnessing a remarkably reluctant crusade. When President Harry S. Truman called for an allout fight on inflation, he spoke with a wholly unaccustomed fire. Since then, however, the Administration's effort to back up the Truman program has been chiefly notable for a total lack of fervor and a conspicuous vagueness about what the Administration really wants.

This vagueness has already given Senator Robert A. Taft an opportunity to make in five words a point far more telling that any he made in his long radio denunciaation of the Truman program. "What," Senator Taft has asked at hearings before his joint economic committee, "IS the Administration's program?" The Administration witnesses have found that a singularly difficult question to answer.



ALSOP

There is no mystery about why this is so. First, the general shape of the Truman program was only finally decided upon a few hours before the President appeared before congress. And second, a majority of the administration witnesses who have been ostensibly testifying for the program on Capitol Hill bitterly opposed important aspects of it before the decision was finally made. Thus it is not surprising that their hearts are quite obviously not in their work.

Disregarded Advice

The Sunday before the President's Monday message to the congress has been called by one of the Democratic political strategists, who most eagerly supported an all out attack on high prices, "our Valley Forge." For it was on that day that opponents of all-out program, conspicuously including Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder and Agriculture Secretary Clinton Anderson, made their last stand. They did what they could to persuade the President to present a relatively painless anti-inflation program to congress. The President, mindful of the gloomy forebodings of the economists (and also no doubt of the views of his political advisers, who unanimously recommended a strong program) decided to disregard the advice of, Anderson, Snyder, and their allies, and to go the whole way. But this decision was only finally made the night before Truman appeared on Capitol Hill.

The results have been two-fold. Because of last-minute, off-the-cuff nature of the decision, no adequate preparation was made for the hostile congressional scrutiny of the program which inevitably followed the Presidential message. As one Democratic critic of the administration handling of the program has remarked, "If Roosevelt had made that speech, legislation to cover it, with the last 't' crossed, would have ben lying right under his manuscript, ready to drop into the hopper." In the weeks which have passed since the Truman anti-inflation program was unveiled before an angry Republican congress, no over-all legislation has yet been produced, and certainly no 't's' have been crossed.

Moreover, it is not surprising that the testimony of such administration witnesses as Mr. Anderson and Mr. Snyder has lacked a certain ardor. It has frequently been difficult to guess whether they were testifying for the Truman program or against it.

Secretary Anderson showed a marked lack of enthusiasm for one of the most important points in the program, that calling for a reduction in the feeding of grain to animals above a certain weight. He also at one point took occasion to imply that the real trouble was that the state department was stubbornly insisting on sending too much grain to Europe.

Again, Secretary Snyder briskly spoke out against Truman's point one, that calling for controls on bank credit, while within a few hours another administration witnesses, Federal Reserve Board Chairman Marriner Eccles, insisted cogently that point one was the heart of the whole plan. Obviously Senator Taft has a right to wonder what the administration program really is.

This bungling and confusion has given the Republicans a much-needed opportunity to recover from the blow the Truman proposals have undoubtedly administered to their political prospects. The inept administration handling of the campaign for the program lends weight to the charge whether justified or not (and it probably is not), that the Truman proposals were simply advanced as a gambit in the game which will end in November, 1948. But the Republicans will have to do more than shout "politics." They will have to have some reasonable inflation program of their own. For it is becoming inescapably clear that if we are not to abandon most of the world to the Comintern, and if we are to prevent economic disaster at home, we must accept a certain number of restraints, however irksome.

Shudda Haddi mon That Race Track Strike

SHUDDA HADDIM, the well known turfite has written us a letter about the Florida "strike" of race horse owners. He says if this sort of thing goes on, a modern race horse may go days at a time without racing, thus getting a badly needed rest. "And once the horses now racing in this country get any rest, how can you handicap 'em? Nobody knows what a skinner is capable of when he ain't exhausted?" he writes.

"This Florida case fills me with alarm," he adds. "All the handicapping for the last five or six years has been done on the basis that the horse is tired from over-racing. If a fresh horse is entered, it throws everything upside down. A fresh horse is a skinner that ain't appeared in an entry list between Monday and Wednesday.

PHILLIPS

"My claim is that a horse owner should find some other way of resting a beetle instead of closing up a oval. Also I can't shed no tears over a race horse owner only getting $2,000 a race outside of his side bets, a easy life and the year around in swell climates.

* * *

"A horse owner tells me he can't break down a good horse for less than $2,000 a heat, and maybe he is right. Money went further in the old days and so did a horse.

* * *

"He says to me on account of inflashun it costs more to get a skinner to the post and I know the ones I bet on cost more to get to the post on account of the owner has to pay two men to hold the bums up on the way from the barn to the gates and four men to support him there until the bell rings. Also a horse is apt to stop after a few yards on account of his feet hurt and horse doctors have not only boosted the fee for home visits but doubled them for going out on the track to make a visit.

"My trainer friend tells me you don't know what inflashun is until you have taken a horse out to dinner.

* * *

"He says even a light lunch for a horse costs five times what it used to cost, even without no dessert like clover salad. Shoes is up. A trainer, who wouldn't lie to me, as he is a straight shooter, says he can't dope a horse for what it used to cost. Needles and pills is away up and he says Truman should put controls on 'em

* * *

"But I am personally more worried about myself and the horses. We both suffer from inaction and our joints cripple up fast on us when we got nothing to do. The skinners is worrying also and no way has been figured out for me to handicap a horse that worries too much. P. S. I hear that when Tropical park comes up it will cross me up by closing the opening day and opening on the second day. Your friend. Shudda Haddim."

Meet Truman Twill

By THOMAS TWONT

I have been asked to write something about Truman Twill, bon vivant, raconteur and saver of old string, who has temporarily gone from among us in search of the eternal verities, if such there be.

I have known Truman Twill man and boy. For years the Twills and the Twonts lived on the same street. Old Man Twill made his pile in the textile business before he sold out to the Williams Whipcord Industries.

Truman was a versatile lad. He would play the "Dance of the Elves" on the piano for the Ladies Aid Society, meeting with his mother, and 20 minutes later be back of the barn showing us how to moisturize cornsilk with a pipette filched from his brother's chemistry set.

In later years, he has come to be known as the Homely Philosopher, an appellation which belies his handsome features, his stately bearing and the silken brown hair which sometimes cascades over his forehead in boyish disarray. Such men sat at the feet of Aristotle in the academic groves of ancient Greece.

In his writings for this page, Truman Twill likes to depict himself as a somewhat bemused male amazed at what is going on around him, befuddled by the complexities of modern home life slightly in awe of women, scared to death of modern mechanical juggernauts. But do not be misled. The real Twill is a worldling who fought a duel at 18 and even now carries a sword cane. The more exclusive reaches of the Rue de la Paix and the Boulevard Passy are as familiar to him as Market Ave. He not only has savoir faire; he is couth.

Only the other day an aquaintance said of him, "I never saw a couther individual."

I am proud to count Truman Twill as a good friend, severe critic and frequent companion at snooker pool. To know him is not necessarily to love him but those who have expressed dislike of him are few. In politics he is just a little to the left of Louis XIV, although in his younger days he once put in with a band of Catalonian anarchists who were planning to crack the continent by laying an elongated land mine under the Mississippi River. This plan came to naught, however, and the ebullient young Truman turned his energies to pigeon-raising.

Today Truman is a staid burgher in life's prime, with many rich, full years behind him and, we hope, many ahead of him. Evenings, he sits at home among his loved ones and draws on a narghile charged with fragrant latakia which is dispatched to him in frequent shipments by the Sultan of Malabat, a friend. In the clouds of smoke he sees visions of past years and as the smoke clears away and reality comes into focus, he is sometimes heard to mutter, "Other times, other customs." The significance of this is not apparent and his friends think he is putting on an act.

Such is Truman Twill. His like has not passed this way before. His like will not pass this way again.

Total compensation of U. S. employes more than doubled between 1940 and 1944, representing increases in wage rates, more hours worked and more workers.

CITY COUNCILMAN DIES AT GALION

Heart Attack Fatal to William Barr, 75.

Special to The Star

GALION, Dec. 5—Death claimed Councilman William Barr, 75, well known and well liked Galion [illegible] at 10:15 a. m., Sunday, in [illegible] hospital. Barr, who had served as a member of council for [illegible] years, not consecutive, was not a candidate for reelection at the November election, but was elected constable of Polk township.

Mr. Barr's death is the second in council in the past three months, Arthur A. Connor's death occurring in September. He was chairman of the water committee of council during the past year.

Mr. Barr, who lived at 305 Fairview avenue, had been ill for one week, and was admitted to the hospital after he suffered a heart attack.

A native of Pinegrove, Pa., Mr. Barr was born March 31, 1872, the son of William and Salesa (Holtzman) Barr. He was married April 12, 1900, to Elizabeth Rettig who survives. Besides his widow, he leaves one sister, Mrs. Bessie Horgan of Harrisburg, Pa.; a nephew, Robert Rettig and a niece, Mrs. Charles Sloop, who were raised by Mr. Barr and his wife.

For the past 50 years, Mr. Barr lived in Galion, coming here from Pinegrove, Pa. In 1937 he retired from the New York Central Railroad company as a signalman after 40 years of service with the company. He was a member of First Reformed church, and of Galion Lodge 414 and Galion Chapter 142, Masonic orders.

Funeral services will be held held Tuesday at 3 p. m. at the Snyder funeral home in charge of Rev. R. R. Elliker, pastor of First Reformed church. Burial will be made in Fairview cemetery. Friends may call any time at the funeral home.

Marion Agency Showing New 1948 Hudson

Shown is the new Hudson Commodore Series Four-Door Sedan. Brought to the public at a cost of $16,000,000, the new Hudson combines for the first time in any motor car a low center of gravity with increased interior roominess, and a passenger compartment completely cradled between the axles. The new Hudson has a lower center of gravity, is only five feet high and provides more head room. The new Hudson has a 124-inch wheelbase and is available with 121 h.p. new Super-Six or 128 h.p. improved Super-Eight engine. Ten standard, two special body colors and five two-tone color combinations are offered.

Two new Hudson 1948 model Commodore eight cylinder, four-door sedans now are on display at the Haberman Bros. Motor Sales on South Prospect street. The new models were introduced nationally yesterday.

Describing the new models, Hudson President A. E. Barit says, "we have arrived at another period of fundamental change in automobile design. This era is marked by the development of a more advanced type of automobile construction, which makes it possible to achieve a combination of important basic advantages not possible before."

Mr. Barit described these basic advantages as follows:

"The new Hudson has a lower center of gravity.

"It is only five feet from the ground to its top.

"It provides more headroom than any other mass-produced automobile.

"It is a car which upon entering, you step down into, not up on.

"It really cradles passengers between the axles.

"It has a new, more advantageous distribution of weight that contributes to the far better ride and roadability qualities which the car affords."

The new Hudson features an all-steel, box-section frame built into the body and extending outside the rear wheels. This new construction has enabled Hudson to lower the floor of the car, a move heretofore not feasible to any great degree because of the limitations imposed by the bulky, under-the-floor frame structure characteristic of old-fashioned automobile construction.

Heavy wrap-around bumpers are recessed into the body and fenders and add to the compact, finished look of the car. The rear bumpers are bolted directly to the frame instead of being mounted on conventional brackets, giving the bumper greater strength.

Outside door handles are trigger-operated, with heavy, permanently-fixed hand grips that permit easy control of opening and closing operations. All doors are hinged at the front for safety.

A great increase in visibility is apparent in all body types. The new curved windshield, with a visual area of 758 square inches, is 167 square inches greater in visual area than 1947 models.

Large, easy-to-read dials on the instrument panel are free of glare for night driving due to the use of an extruded light-bending plastic, which is forced through dial faces and brings light only to the figures on the dials and instrument needles.

The new Super-Six engine, is rated at 121 horsepower. Offered also is an improved Super-Eight engine rated at 128 horsepower.

MAN KILLED IN SEARCH FOR DOG

By The Associated Press

HAMILTON, O., Dec. 8 — Frank Rumpler, 53-year-old machinery manufacturing company superintendent, set out last Tuesday night to search for a prized hunting dog which had failed to return from a coon hunting trip.

When Rumpler likewise did not return, authorities launched a search that went unrewarded until yesterday afternoon.

About a mile east of nearby Somerville, where the Hoovens-Owens-Rentschler Co. executive lived, they found Rumpler's overturned automobile in a creek, at the base of a 20-foot embankment. Beneath the auto was Rumpler's pinned body.

Reputy Mark Duerr theorized that Rumpler stopped the car, removed the keys and placed them in a pocket, then clambered aboard the auto's running board when it began to roll.

new demands for telephone service

every day a new peak

Telephone installers throughout the country have a tremendous assignment. They have installed a record number of telephones in the past two years, but there is still no let-up in the demand for service. So, in spite of our record speed, we always have some catching up to do. However, we are continuing to make progress, and hope to be able to serve everyone within a reasonably short time.

OHIO

NEW DEAL ANOTHER "ISM," SMITH SAYS

Calls Philosophy Another Political Disease of Police State.

In another one-minute speech Friday before the house of representatives in Washington, Congressman Frederick C. Smith (R-Ohio) likened New Dealism to Russian Communism, German, Italian, and British socialism and said they are "all the same disease. All are police states."

"What appear to be differences between these isms," said the congressman, "are but manifestations of different forms and stages of development of identically the same social and economic malady.

"All the bodies controlling these isms subsist on the sweat and toil of others by substituting the political profit motive for the private profit motive; political laissez faire (let the politicians run the affairs of the workers) for private laissez faire (let the workers run their own affairs); government by men and bureaus for government by representation and law; a politically planned economy for a natural economy.

"All are based on the principle of unlimited power to tax, to expropriate private property, to 'take from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned.'

"New Dealism is not as fully developed into a police state as the others but it is making rapid progress in that direction. About all it needs to finish the job is the power it is now inveigling congress to give it — peacetime price and wage control, rationing, authority to seize farm crops, livestock, savings, etc. The President himself has said so, though perhaps at an unguarded moment."

BRUSH-MOORE LETS BUILDING CONTRACTS

New Home To Be Erected for Salem News.

Special to The Star

SALEM, Dec. 8—Contracts have been awarded by Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc., for the construction of a new home for the Salem News, a commodious two-floor brick, steel, concrete and Indiana limestone structure to be erected just north of the post-office at a cost of approximately $200,000.

Work will be started at the earliest feasible time and, contingent upon the delivery of steel, completion of the building is anticipated within a year.

Plans were prepared by the architectural firm of Rousseau & Boucherle of Youngstown. The general contract has been placed with the Paul A. Kintz Construction company of Alliance. Other contracts are with the Commercial Piping company of Youngstown for heating, the Salem Plumbing & Heating company for plumbing, sewers and gas fittings, and with the Firestone Electric company of Salem for electric wiring.

The new building will permit rehabilitation and expansion of mechanical facilities to include a 16-page rotary press, typesetting equipment and stereotype equipment.

The present frame building has been occupied by the News for more than 50 years.

The News came under the ownership of Louis H. Brush in 1897. With the East Liverpool Review, which Mr. Brush acquired in 1901, it became one of the properties of Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc. in 1927 when Mr. Brush, Roy D. Moore of Canton and William H. Vodrey of East Liverpool organized the latter company.

Your Good Health

Different Types of Knee Injuries

Ligaments are made up of connective tissue, a tough durable material, which might be called the cement or mortar which holds other tissues, organs, and cells together.

Because the ligaments are used to bind bone and muscle together at the joints, many people have the idea that the function of the ligaments is to keep the joints in position. It is really the muscles which hold the joint in position. The ligaments merely act as a kind of check or stop to prevent gross displacement, that is, excessive movement. Thus, when the knee joint is injured, weakness in the muscles may be noted early.

Following injury to the knee joint, the fluid which collects in the joint is unusually blood, much less often, a watery fluid. However, the watery fluid may gradually increase and, after several days or weeks, a large amount of it may be present in the joint.

As I have mentioned many times, the knee joint is easily injured, producing mechanical derangement of the joint, which means that the joint does not function or work as it should. In diagnosing a derangement of the knee joint, the important things to look for are a history of the injury, weakness of the thigh muscles, a rapid accumulation of fluid in the joint after injury, and the inability to extend the joint slowly and gradually.

The injuries which may occur include the tearing of the cartilages which are between the bones that make up the joints, pinching of the fat pad which is present between the bones, or a strain of the ligaments. Actual tearing of the ligaments may also occur. This shows itself by abnormal movement of the joint when the leg is fully extended. Sprains of the ligaments usually do not result in muscle weakness.

The mere fact that an injury to the knee joint has occurred does not mean that an operation on the joint is necessary.

Much improvement may be brought about in many cases by improving the strength of the thigh muscles.

If, following a sudden twist of the knee when the knee is bent, pain develops on the side of the joint, it indicates that the knee cartilage has been injured. The cartilage may be pulled out of its normal position, and this may cause locking of the joint in movement. To keep the knee joint completely inactive, without first getting the cartilage back into proper position, is not worthwhile. Sometimes mere manipulation while the patient is under an anesthetic may be effective in getting the cartilage in place. If this is not possible, an operation should be carried out.

Questions and Answers

N. L.: I have been getting pains in my legs from the knees down. What could cause this?

Answer: The pains may be due to arthritis or inflammation of the joints, a disturbance of the circulation, or some nervous disorder. You should have a careful study made by your doctor to determine the cause.

DR. BUTLER

ing advocate of the League of Nations and World Court. In 1912, he was the unsuccessful Republican candidate for vice president.

In 1920 Convention

Eight years later he was the "favorite son" of the New York delegation to the Republican national convention and received 69½ votes for the party's presidential nomination which went to Warren G. Harding.

Long interested in world peace, he was president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace for 20 years, resigning in 1945 because of physical infirmities.

After World War II Dr. Butler again took a strong stand for international cooperation which he said was necessary "unless civilization is to be destroyed and come to an early end by giving way to savagery."

He was nationally known for his tireless crusade against national prohibition, the merits of which he once debated with Senator William E. Borah.

Dr. Butler was a prolific writer. In 1934 the Columbia University Press prepared a complete bibliography of his publications which showed he had written 3,200 books, reports, articles and speeches up to that time.

Despite his varied activities, education remained Dr. Butler's prime interest.

"My choice of an academic career was deliberate and has been held to despite every possible temptation, whether financial or political," he said on his seventy-fifth birthday.

Goes Totally Blind

In the spring of 1946 Dr. Butler revealed that he was totally blind. "They tell me it is a paralysis of the nerve due to 70 years of overwork," he said.

Dr. Butler did not hesitate to take a stand on any matter and to support it with vigorous language. Of national prohibition, he said:

"The attempt to establish nation-wide prohibition by constitutional amendment has proved to be the most colossal failure in the history of the government and, judged by the consequences, the most immoral undertaking on which any government ever embarked."

At the outbreak of World War I in 1914, he supported the administration's peace position as "responding to the best wishes and hopes of the whole people," but in 1916 urged America's entry into the conflict.

Long before the United States entered World War II, Dr. Butler denounced the Axis nations, scoffed at neutrality and isolation and called for repeal of the "mis-called neutrality act" which he said "puts us into this war on the side of the aggressor."

Calls Isolation Folly

More than a year before Pearl Harbor he told an unprecedented general assembly of the university faculty that Columbia was enlisted in the war "between beasts and human beings" and that any whose convictions were against that policy should resign.

On another occasion he described as "fatuous folly" and "profound immorality" the theory of national isolation. "There are and can be no Robinson Crusoe nations in this modern world," he said. "The electric spark and its manifold applications have destroyed those limitations of time and space which were at one time so obvious and so influential."

After the United States entered the war, the president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace said that "liberty is not only worth fighting for, but it must be fought for when attacked by armed force."

While of a usually serious nature, Dr. Butler possessed a rare humor, as evidenced by this advice he gave to his Republican party in 1948: "First get some ideas, and then get some votes."

In 1887, he married Miss Susanna Edwards Schuyler. A daughter was born to them. Mrs. Butler died in 1903, and in 1907 Dr. Butler married Miss Kate La Montague.

WOULD DISMISS SUIT AT GALION

Attorney Would Withdraw Action if City Takes Outside Power.

Special to The Star

GALION, Dec. 8—Mayor Wil- Amann and Service Director Poister were contacted to- regarding the two bids for electrical energy from an outside utility to supplement that generated by the Galion Municipal Light and Power plant, after Attorney Kenneth M. Petri, stated Saturday that he would be willing to dismiss the injunction suit, pending in Crawford county courts, in the event that the city board of control would first sign a contract with one of two bidders for the outside power.

The mayor said he still had the bids under consideration and expressed the opinion that the city could not enter into such a contract in the last 30 days of the present administration.

Poister declared "I don't think we should bind the new administration by deciding on the bids now when it is so near to the end of the year." He was of the opinion that the new administration should have something to say about it.

Pressure by Petri for the board of control to make a decision was disclosed Saturday, after it was learned that representatives of the Fairbanks-Morse Company of Chicago had conferred with a council committee and the board of control, Friday night, on possible means of settlement of the contract with the company for purchase of a 1,136 kilowatt diesel generating unit for the light plant. Purchase of the diesel was stopped by the taxpayer's injunction suit filed by Petri on Nov. 24.

It was learned that representatives of the diesel company offered to settle the matter for $4,600, claimed as expenses incident to the contract and mostly resulting from uncancellable equipment already ordered by the company for the Galion unit. However, Mayor Amann said that the problem will be studied further in order to determine if the city had a legal right to agree to a settlement since the original purchase was alleged to be unlawful in the injunction filed by Petri.

Petri said, Saturday, "I think the Fairbands-Morse people would be willing to accept less than they requested as a settlement. There is some question as to the legality of the diesel contract and the acting-solicitor and I are going into the matter shortly."

Robert L. Moulton, acting-solicitor for the city, stated that representatives of the company (Fairbanks-Morse) had no doubt come to Galion in response to his letter to their company asking for redemption of the entire down-payment of $10,800 which the city made on the diesel purchase. The total cost of the diesel is $108,000.

"MISS HUSH." Mrs. Ruth Annette Subbie (seated), beams with joy shortly after winning the Truth or Consequences "Miss Hush" contest by naming dancer Martha Graham as "Miss Hush." Her mother Mrs. J. H. MISS HUSH WINNER GETS FIRST AWARD

By The Associated Press

FORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 8—Mrs. Ruth Annette Subbie began inventory today of her estimated $20,000 harvest in prizes as winner of the "Miss Hush" radio program contest—plus a possible $5,000 income tax bill from the government.

"But I don't mind paying that much to the government," the 47-year-old housewife said when informed that the internal revenue bureau figured "roughly" that taxes would take a quarter of her winnings.

Mrs. Subbie won the contest by correctly naming "Miss Hush" as dancer Martha Graham in response to a telephone call from Ralph Edwards, master of ceremonies on the "Truth or Consequences" quiz program Saturday night.

During the contest more than 700,000 letters were received. Entrants told in 25 words or less why "we should all support the March of Dimes." Writer of the three best letters each week were telephoned and given a chance to identify "Miss Hush."

Mrs. Subbie's first rewards appeared yesterday. First, she, her two daughters, a son and her husband, C. T. Subbie traveling salesman for an oil well servicing company, were each fitted for a suit and topcoat. Next, the family watched as she was presented a two-seated Luscombe airplane.

Other gifts to be presented include a trip to Honolulu, a $1,500 fur coat, and a house trailer.

Mrs. Subbie has been an ardent participator in contests for 17 years. In previous contests she won a round trip to San Francisco and a $100 cash prize.

FLIVVER FLIERS IN DAYTON ON LAST HOP

By The United Press

DAYTON, Dec. 8—Rain and fog grounded round-the-world flivver fliers George Truman and Clifford Evans today, preventing their taking-off on the last leg of their 24,000 mile trip.

The two landed their red Piper Super-Cruisers here Saturday on a flight from Kansas City and planned to fly on to Teterboro, N. J., where they started four months ago, as soon as the weather clears.

The weather bureau indicated the overcast would not clear until about 5 a. m. tomorrow.

Truman and Evans visited 70-year-old Orville Wright, co-inventor of the airplane, who said of their flight in planes not much heavier than the one he and his brother first flew at Kitty Hawk, N. C.:

"You surely had nerve to attempt this trip."

"Look who's talking about nerve," Evans replied.

FIRE 90 AS BAD SECURITY RISKS

Army Lets Out Civilians Working on Secret Defense Projects.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 — The military services have barred as "bad security risks," during the past year some 90 civilians from working on secret projects let to private contractors.

These cases are in addition to previously reported instances of federal worker dismissals for disloyalty or reasons of doubtful loyalty. Since 1942, when congress made provision for such action, about 55 persons have been fired from Army or Air Force civilian jobs.

Both programs are designed to guard leaks of military information or other intelligence to foreign powers either intentionally or carelessly. Military men explain that a "bad security risk" is not necessarily disloyal—he may be given to talking too much or otherwise have habits likely to make secret-keeping difficult.

Although no specific projects were mentioned by authorities who disclosed the banning of some contract workers from jobs, the policy is understood to embrace all-classified contracts."

Presumably contracts of this kind would include construction work for experimental or development projects including such items as atomic energy and weapons. Rockets, new bases and the recently announced plan to build an atomic weapons proving ground at Eniwetok atoll in the Pacific.

In addition to applying security checks to civilians in both regular government and contract jobs, the military services also are screening their own uniformed personnel to sift out the unwanted.

The Army department has said a shortage of investigators has "seriously hampered" such investigations, but the number of officers or enlisted men dropped from the Army has not been disclosed officially

The military services rule that "membership in or close affiliation with the Communist party is inimical to the national security" and that officers or men may be dismissed from service if found to be Communists.

STREET CAR HITS BUS

CLEVELAND, Dec. 8—Thirty teen-age Akron youths were shaken up, but uninjured yesterday when a bus in which they were riding was struck by a rapid transit streetcar at Shaker Square. The bus, owned by the Akron Y. M. C. A., brought the group here for a twilight concert of the Cleveland Orchestra.

Are You Over 30 But Under 50 . . . ?

Sometime during that twenty year period most people must face the need of making their first funeral arrangements. Often that need arrives without previous warning.

During recent years many have been coming to us for advance information. It is a sensible thing to do. There is little time after the necessity actually comes, and it is difficult to use one's best judgment at such a time.

Those who make inquiry are under no obligation to employ our service. Information about funeral arrangements and cost is freely given to all who care to call.

TRUSTY WALKS AWAY

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O, Dec 8—Ohio state prison officials today were at a loss to explain why a trusty walked away just 16 days before his scheduled release on parole Warden Frank Henderson identified the trustee as Preston Bartlett, alias Carl Johnson who was sentenced to a life term in 1935 for the burglary of a Cleveland home

EX-CONVICT KILLS FOREMAN AND SELF

Shoots Lebanon Man Down While Hunting Wife.

By The Associated Press

LEBANON, O, Dec. 8—A former convict yesterday shot and killed the foreman of a mushroom growing-canning plant at nearby South Lebanon and fired a wild shot at another employe before sending a fatal bullet from the .38 caliber revolver into his own brain, Gerald W. Couden, Warren county sheriff reported.

The victims were Ed Bishop, 57, who served 14 years of a 25-year term in Ohio penitentiary for the $2,500 robbery of a bank at nearby Mason in 1924, and Howard Bryant, 38, foreman for the Corwin Fred Mushroom Co. A murder-suicide verdict was issued by Coroner H M Williams

Notes found in Bishop's clothing indicated, the sheriff said, he came to the plant with intentions of killing his wife, Irene Bishop, 55, a plant employe, and then shoot himself.

Couden said he was told by George Krebs, 45, and other employes that Bishop shot Bryant in the head when the foreman refused him permission to see Mrs. Bishop. Bishop aimed a harmless shot at Krebs and then turned the gun on himself, the sheriff recounted Couden said one note found in Bishop's clothing, addressed to the "people of South Lebanon," read.

"Will you see that me and Irene are sent back to Kentucky to her home? Bury us side by side. May God bless each of you."

The sheriff quoted the other note, addressed to the "sheriff of Warren county";

"Will you please see that the $200 I have put up as my bond is put up for laying me and my wife away?"

Bishop posted $200 bond to obtain his release recently when he was bound over to the grand jury on an assault charge filed by his wife.

A native of Newport, Ky, Bishop was released from Ohio penitentiary about four years ago, Sheriff Couden said.

Anti-Salooners Protest GI Bartender Training

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE, Dec. 8—The Anti-Saloon League of America has launched a campaign against the use of GI educational benefits to teach the bartending trade, Superintendent George W. Crabbe said at a Sunday service here.

Crabbe told the congregation of the Harlem Park Methodist church that "the liquor forces have read into the GI Bill of Rights their right to train bartenders at the federal government's expense"

He said schools for that purpose were among the forms of education open to veterans, and asserted that "one of them is operating right here in Baltimore"

Crabbe said he would be "unalterably opposed" to universal military training as long as the government permits the sale of alcoholic beverages on military reservations

Missionary Society Meets at Trinity Church

A meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of Trinity Baptist church was held Thursday afternoon at the church with Mrs. Troy McClure presiding. Group singing of the theme song, "Lord Speak To Me," opened the meeting and prayer was by Mrs. McClure. Love gift and White Cross reports were given, and missionary current events were presented by Mrs. Harwood Taylor who told of Mrs. Harriet Mason Stevens, a retired missionary from Burma who is 106 years of age.

The program, in charge of Mrs. George Wingett, consisted of a poem, "The Christmas Star," read by Mrs. Wingett, devotions by Mrs. Hattie Richards, and a playlet, "Prophecy of the Christmas Story." Readers were Mrs. R. A. Maxim and Mrs. Ralph Epley, music interludes were played by Mrs. Harry Woodall, and the solo part, "While Shepherds Watched There Flocks," by Mrs. Maxim. Others taking part were Mrs. Marvin Weston, Mrs. Herbert Brewer and Mrs. Ralph Wright. The closing prayer was by Mrs. Dail Gorman.

WAYSIDE CIRCLE MEETS

Mrs. J. W. Higgins of Forest street was hostess when members of Wayside Loyal circle met for a Christmas dinner and gift exchange. Friday. Joel Bolander was a guest. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Dessie Sharpe of Henry street.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

"I'M not sure I have all the details worked out," I told Mary, "but I'll give you the highlights."

Swiftly I sketched for her the plan I suddenly had evolved for the deflating of Georges. When I had finished, she stared at me for the fraction of a second, then threw up her hand in a salute.

"If that isn't something," she declaimed. "But your cast of characters intrigues me. Will they all go through their paces, especially—"

I put up a protesting hand.

"Let us name no names, if you please," I said.

"On the theory that 'even the walls have ears?'" she said

"Something on that order," I said. "And now, did I hear you express a desire for 'a large dose of Faith' a few minutes ago?"

"Right the first time," she told me.

"Then," I said, rising, "I'll telephone Aunt Katharine to bring her back here. After that, if you'll excuse me, I want to go up with your uncle to his studio for awhile."

"Going to groom him in his role?" she asked.

"At least, I'm going to tell him he has one," I countered, and she waved me an airy adieu and called "Good hunting!" after me as I went out of the door after telephoning Katharine.

"What's up?" my husband asked as I came into his bedroom.

"I suppose my 'tell-tale face' again," I said a bit pettishly.

"Why not term it your 'open, frank countenance?'" Dicky countered. Then he gave me a hearty "buss."

"Don't worry!" he said consolingly. "You can manage to put on a very clever and misleading act when you have to. But you know it isn't necessary with me, or with Dad, or with the rest of our nefarious pals. Now, suppose you give out with the news."

"Not here," I said firmly. "Olina has gone, Mary and I have had a long talk, and she has expressed a desire for a 'large dose of Faith.'"

"Showing her good sense," Faith's fatuous father commented. "I could do with another dose myself."

"You won't get it for awhile," I said callously. "If you'll permit the intrusion,"—I wrinkled my nose at him—"we're going up to your studio, and you can whet up your vocabulary on the way. You're going to need it."

"If it's for the purpose of flaying little Georgy Porgy alive, I'll forgive you the 'intrusion,'" he said. "Indeed, I'll welcome you with open arms."

"How you do love that man!" I mocked as we went out of the door.

"Words cannot express my devotion," he said, and spoke no more until we were safely inside his penthouse studio.

"Now," he said, when with his usual punctilious courtesy, he had seated me in the most comfortable chair, and taken one opposite me, "what's the low-down?"

"I'm going to make you wait for the meat in the cocoanut," I said tantalizingly. "I'll pour you some of the juice first."

"My opinion of you is unprintable," he said scathingly, "but hurry up with the preliminaries."

Swiftly I told him of Olina's interview with Mary, her plea that Mary be her matron of honor, and Mary's acquiescence, the offer of Mary's wedding dress, and veil, and the substitute offer, after Olina's hesitation, of a gown from the wonderful stores in Philip Veritzen's storage warehouse. I also told him of the way Mary had substituted a theory of Georges' jealousy of Noel on Olina's account for Olina's palpable suspicion that Georges might not like Noel as a best man because he was Mary's husband.

"So, thanks to Mary, Olina went away radiant," I said.

"That's Mary, all over," her uncle said fondly. "And, if those are only the preliminaries, the 'meat in the cocoanut—'"

"'You ain't heard nuthin' yet,'" I quoted. "Just listen to this gem."

As I told him Mary's story of the three letters Georges had managed to get through to her at the sanitaroum, and his plea for an assurance from her that she had forgiven him, his face fairly purpled with anger. But he did not speak until I had finished. Then he exploded.

"Why—why—that—that—"

"Don't mind me," I murmured.

"I don't know youre on earth," he snapped, and then went into an unexpurgated characterization of Georges which satisfied even my anger at the royal playboy.

"There won't be any wedding," he wound up at last. "I'll strangle him with my bare hands first."

CHRISTMAS DINNER TO BE HELD BY CIRCLE

Plans were completed for a Christmas dinner Dec. 29 at Ringer's Inn at a meeting of the Victoria Christensen circle of Trinity Baptist church, recently at the home of Mrs. Walter Haldeman of North Greenwood street. Reservations are to be made not later than Dec. 21. Mrs. Cerrelda Kochensparger opened the meeting with a song and scripture and Mrs. Emily Staats who gave the story from Luke and a hymn. Plans were made to arrange a basket for a needy family for Christmas, and also to send a gift to the circle's adopted sisters in Mather school, South Carolina, and to contribute to the World Crusade. Mrs. Owen Meddles reported on the work in the mission field at "Assam," and letters were read from Miss Victoria Christensen, a mission worker in Jorhat, Assam, India. Refreshments were served.

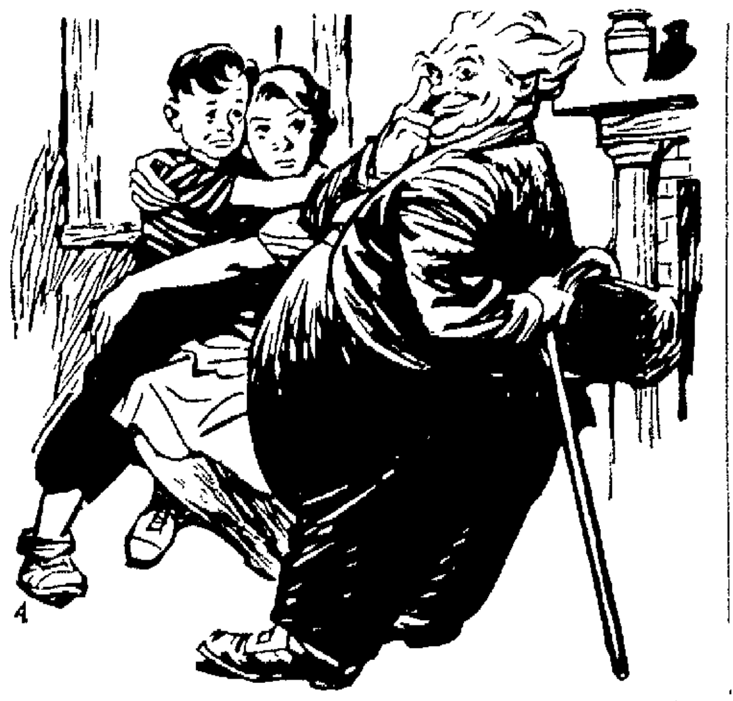
Santa AND THE GOOD BOY

BY LUCRECE HUDGINS

CHAPTER FOUR

Santa Finds Tom Clover



HE KNEW HE HAD FOUND THE CHILD WHO COULD SAVE CHRISTMAS.

SANTA searched the streets of Mizoo and wherever there were children he stopped to ask questions hoping each time that here at last he would find a child who was truly good.

"Beat it, old man!" cried a group of boys skating on a pond. "We have no time to talk to you."

"What a funny looking man you are!" shrieked some girls who were playing on the steps of a church. And they sang:

"Go away, Mr. Boo,
"We don't like you!"

Then they threw back their heads and screamed with laughter.

Indeed Santa's heart now was filled with sorrow but still he thought, "Surely, surely there is a good child somewhere. Why have I failed to find him?"

Suddenly he came upon two women arguing in the street.

One of the women was filled with anger and her voice was tense with fury. "He is a wicked, wicked boy!" she screamed so loudly that people could hear her half a block away.

"You are wrong," retorted the other and she was angry, too, but quieter. "He is a good boy and what if he did take one of your pies? Do you miss it so much?"

"I can report him to the police you know," screamed the first women. "They would lock him up for good!"

"He is a good boy," repeated the other calmly. "And will never go to jail!"

SHE turned away then and hastened up the street. Santa followed and took her by the arm. "Did you say you have a good boy?" he asked and he was desperate for he knew this was his last chance.

"Oh, sir," cried the woman, almost in tears. "I do! My Tom is good — good — and I don't care what the others say!"

"What about the pies?" asked Santa. "What about the lady's pies?"

"The pies were sitting on her back porch—dozens of them—cooling. She was going to take them to the church. Tom took one." The mother clasped her hands anxiously. "But not for himself! For a beggar man on the corner! How could I let her call him wicked for that? It was a mistake but surely not wicked!"

"Could I see your son?" asked Santa and he was suddenly filled with hope.

"Come with me," said the woman. "I have left him at home cooking the evening meal. He is good and helpful. You will see."

She took Santa to the edge of town and into her one room house. It was cold within and the floors were bare and there was very little furniture. As soon as they entered the woman sniffed and ran to the stove.

"The soup is scorched!" she cried. "And the beets have boiled away!"

Then the poor mother was ashamed to look at Santa because she had told him her son was good and was cooking the evening meal. Just then the door burst open and a black haired boy with shining eyes banged into the kitchen.

"Oh, Tom! You told me you would watch while I was gone!" wailed the mother.

Tom Clover was filled with remorse. "I went to get some wood for the stove," he explained unhappily.

"And what took you so long?"

"There were some musicians on the corner. Oh, Mother, they played beautiful music! I forgot the cooking."

"And what of the wood?"

"I forgot the wood," said Tom with downcast eyes.

THERE was a long, long silence in the kitchen. Then Santa said, "Do you study hard and get good grades in school?"

"No, sir," said Tom. "I mean—I try to study hard but my grades are not always good."

"And what about your friends—do you fight with other boys?"

The mother sighed and the boy sighed and then the boy cried, "Sure, I fight. A fellow has to fight sometimes, doesn't he?" He turned to his mother. "How could I take care of you if I were not a fighter?" Suddenly he put his arms around her and whispered, "I'm sorry about dinner. I'll go to the store and buy you a sandwich with my paper money and I am not hungry at all."

The mother kissed him and said to Santa, "Please understand. He's forgetful and careless and rough but—oh, sir, he is gentle and kind."

"Yes," said Santa, softly. "He has a tender heart."

And he was filled with joy for he knew he had found the child at last who could save Christmas for all the world.

W. S. C. S. MEETING

An all day meeting of the W. S. C. S. of Prospect Street Methodist church was held Thursday in the church parlors. Sewing was done in the forenoon and a covered dish dinner was served. Meeting in the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. Dietsch. Robert Williams of Marion spoke on "Symbols of Religion." Devotions were led by Mrs. Noah Weaver and Mrs. Beaver Bricker played several Christmas numbers as piano solos.

ANNA GORDON UNION MEETS

An all-day meeting of the Anna Gordon W. C. T. U. was held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Ed Ellington of 180 Johns street. In the forenoon a comfort was knotted for relief donation, and in the afternoon a program was held with Mrs. S. L. Webster of Mt. Vernon as speaker. Mrs. Roy Lesch was enrolled as a new member. Mrs. D. S. Jobe was in charge of devotions and read the Christmas story from Luke. A Christmas gift exchange was a part of the entertainment. Dismissal was by prayer offered by Mrs. Bertha Kull. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Mary Goyer of 295 South Grand avenue.

Coast fog signals were almost unknown until the middle of the 19th century.

BROWN MAJORETTES IN CITY WEDNESDAY

Musical and Marching Group on Palace Stage.

The Musical Majorettes of Cleveland, who are to present their stage performance Wednesday at the Palace theater, are a group of girls in majorette attire who dance and march while playing. Organized and directed by George "Red" Bird, famous for his music directing at Massillon High school, the Majorettes are a major part of the program at each of the Cleveland Browns' football games.

Of the 32 Majorettes, 16 are scheduled to appear in Marion.

The man who originated the famous Musical Majorettes of Cleveland, Mr. Bird, is a native of near Cincinnati. He has had wide experience and gained his first fame directing the Massillon High school swing band.

Dedicating his life to music, Mr. Bird has played with a number of dance bands along with concert organizations. For a period of four years, he was director of the Xavier university band of Cincinnati. His success there led to his appointment as supervisor of music of the high school at Trotwood, O., followed by Steel's High school in Dayton, and finally in Massillon in 1938.

It was here that he became known in the field of marching bands and was acknowledged to be the outstanding director of such bands. In 1946, he was asked by Paul Brown to be entertainment director for the Cleveland Browns football team, the position which he now holds. It was then he hit upon the idea which culminated in the now famous Musical Majorettes.

SPEAKERS PAINT DIM U. S.-SOVIET PICTURE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 8—Three speakers painted a gloomy picture of United States-Russian relations here yesterday.

William C. Bullitt, former U.S. ambassador to Russia, told a college of St. Mary of the Springs lecture series audience the "simple fact is" that Russia is out to conquer the world for communism.

Reps. Donald L. Jackson (R-Calif) and Pete Jarman (D-Ala), both members of the house foreign affairs committee, outlined similar views in a Columbus town meeting radio broadcast.

Jackson said he felt the nations of the world "are choosing up sides."

"It is a tragedy that we should be considering chances of peace with Russia on this sixth anniversary of Pearl Harbor," Jarman said, "but a foreign policy of different nature would not have had a different end."

Bullitt said the United States must make this choice:

"Either we live for a few years while letting the Soviet Union seize the rest of the world and launch against us overwhelming masses of men and machines, or we live hard and remain a free people that submits to no master."

AMERICAN LEGION STARTS U.M.T. DRIVE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 8—Ohio Legionnaires today began collecting "miles of signatures" to petitions favoring universal military training after hearing national Commander James O'Neill open the campaign with a charge that the greatest tragedy of Pearl Harbor is that the United States "has not learned anything from it."

O'Neill's speech before an Ohio commanders' and adjutants' conference yesterday signalled the start of a national drive to have congress enact U.M.T. in 1948.

"Six years after Pearl Harbor, after undergoing the trials and stupendous efforts of the greatest war in all history, we are almost back where we were in 1941 as regards our defenses, our preparedness program and our mental attitude toward national security," O'Neill asserted.

Universal military training, he said, would "remedy this weakness, a weakness that can become fatal overnight."

He asked Ohio Legionnaires to "secure miles of signatures" on petitions for the training bill, and said the Ohio American Legion department's role probably was more important than any other's since Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) is "the No. 1 opponent of U.M.T. in congress."

Mrs. Cooper Hostess To Philathea Circle

For a dinner meeting of the Philathea circle of Emanuel Lutheran church Wednesday night, Mrs. Ernest Cooper was hostess in her home at 427 Bellefontaine avenue. Mrs. Harry Foltz was co-hostess. Dinner was served at 6.30 to 21 members and a guest, Mrs. Alfreida Gast, who took part in the program following. The tables and rooms were decorated in keeping with the Christmas season. Papers on Christmas subjects were read by Mrs. Clifford Thibaut, Mrs. Helen Ulmer and Mrs. Aynard Solie, and the Christmas story was presented by Mrs. Gast. Carols were sung, and exchange gifts were distributed by "Santa."

Committee chairmen were announced including Mrs. Karl Dune, program; Mrs. John Loeffert, music; Mrs. Albert Stein, flower and gift; Mrs. Solie, welfare; Mrs. Clifford Thibaut, sewing; Mrs. Mabel Enrick, finance; Mrs. Foltz and Mrs. Cooper, social; Mrs. Edward Thibaut, sales tax stamps, and Mrs. Carl Hoffman, reporter.

Beware Coughs Following Flu
After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

TWO POLICE SHOT IN HOLDUP BATTLE

By The Associated Press

STER, O., Dec. 8—Four—two of them policemen— hospitals today following battle touched off by the robbery of the William department store.

Sgt. Glenn Aukerman was in the groin and Patrolman Herbert Mullen received a left arm and a flesh the right thigh.

three gunmen who took the Saturday night holdup unded. They were identi- police Chief Walter Yost Splitt, 27, shot twice in and once in the thigh. his brother, Herbert, 26, in the chest.

The chief said Mack Guy, 42, an outside stairway police arrived but later was rested. Of the wounded, only Splitt was reported in serious condition.

The two officers and Patrolman and were sent to the store an employe crouched under counter and phoned police that holdup was in progress. The store had closed shortly before. Chief Yost identified the bandit as Akron residents and said they would be charged with armed robbery and possibly shooting with intent to kill.

SHAPPARD

charge of first degree murder Oct. 7 after the grand jury had heard testimony of 23 witnesses. The court then appointed Ralph Carhart to defend the accused with Dwight Carhart as assistant counsel.

Arraignment Delayed

Shappard appeared for arraignment Oct. 9, at which time Attorney Carhart asked for further time to study the case before entering a plea. With the consent of Prosecutor Reed, the court set arraignment for Oct. 21.

On the afternoon of Oct. 20, in a virtually empty courtroom, Shappard again appeared, still unruffled and evidencing no outward concern whatsoever concerning the fact that he would soon go on trial for his life, and entered a plea of not guilty through his attorneys.

Judge Smith then set Dec. 9 as the date for the trial to open and called for an initial venire of 75 persons from which to draw the first jury to hear a murder trial since 1938.

At that time Harvey L. Roush was sentenced to the chair for the double murder of Homer Myers, a Marion county farmer, and his wife by the late Judge Hector C. Young after a trial that lasted six days. Paul D. Michel was county prosecutor at the time and the defense of Roush was conducted by the late Z. P. Davis.

Ray Shappard has been a model prisoner, according to Sheriff Retterer. A veritable cock-of-the-walk among the county jail prisoners, he has acted as a strictly unofficial greeter to new arrivals, sticking out his hand with the greeting, "I'm Shappard, I suppose you've heard of me."

He maintains a fairly neat appearance, keeps clean shaven, his shoes polished and clothes in order. His favorite attire seems to be G.I. winter uniform with which he was presented when he was honorably discharged Jan. 24, 1946, from Indiantown Gap Separation Center with the rank of private first class.

Shappard who is married and has two children, went into the Army under the draft Nov. 3, 1943. As a cook, he saw overseas service of slightly more than 10 months with Co. M of the Third Infantry, in France. At the time of the murder he was employed with a crew removing buildings at the Scioto Ordnance area.

DEATHS and FUNERALS

H. O. TOMS

Herschel Otto Toms

Herschel Otto Toms, 87, a resident of 266 South State street, died in City hospital at 12:25 p. m. Sunday after an illness of a year.

Born Dec. 5, 1860, in Richland county, he was a son of William and Elizabeth Schrack Toms, the father a native of Pennsylvania and the mother of Ohio. May 28, 1890, he married Rosa Farley in Delaware. She died Dec. 16, 1944. Mr. Toms was a member of Epworth Methodist church, of the Odd Fellows lodge and of Marion Lodge No. 32, B.P.O. Elks.

For 34 years he was operator of the Union mills in Prospect, retiring in 1919. He served one term as mayor of Prospect in the early 1900's. About 27 years ago he came to Marion from Prospect to make his home. At one time he also served on the Marion city health board.

Surviving are son, Dale F. Toms of Prospect and Glen O. Toms of 266 South state street, four grandchildren, four great grandchildren, and two sisters, Mrs. Lena McGrew and Mrs. Nina Tyson, both of Fredericktown. Four brothers and a sister preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p. m. in the Schaffner-Denzer funeral home on East Center street by Dr. V. E. Busler, pastor of Epworth church. Burial will be in Prospect cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7:30 tonight.

Carl Clifford Morgan

Funeral services for Carl Clifford Morgan of 576 East Church street will be conducted Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. in the Schaffner-Denzer funeral home on East Center street by Rev. H. V. Falor, pastor of Oakland Evangelical United Brethren church. Burial will be in Marion cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home. Mr. Morgan was stricken suddenly about 1 p. m. Saturday following a minor automobile accident. He was rushed to City hospital and was pronounced dead on arrival there. Dr. E. H. Morgan, Marion county coroner, attributed death to shock which brought on heart attack. The accident happened at intersection of Windsor and West Church street.

Born Nov. 7, 1900, in Marion, Mr. Morgan was a son of Stephen H. and Zora A. Black Morgan, the father a native of Dayton and the mother of Green Camp. Nov. 26, 1942, he married Irene Cooper in Marion. He was a molder at the Alloy Cast Steel Co. plant and was a member of CIO. He attended Oakland church.

Surviving are his widow, his parents, who live at 523 Henry street, children, Mrs. Donald Wise of Leader street, Edwin Morgan at home, and Alice and Mary Rae Oden, both of Williamstown, W. Va., sisters, Mrs. Herbert McCartney of 516 Henry street, Mrs. Stanley Taylor of Mansfield and Mrs. M. L. VanIke of Hayward, Calif., and a brother, Emerson Morgan of 275 Waterloo street.

Dr. Earl A. Cole

Dr. Earl A. Cole, 73, Marion osteopathic physician, died Saturday in Jane M. Case hospital in Delaware. He suffered a stroke of paralysis Nov. 4 and was taken to the hospital Nov. 18. His home and his office were at 226 South Prospect street.

Born Oct. 6, 1874, he was a native of Anna in Shelby county. Graduated from Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware in 1904, he taught school for a time, then entered Osteopathic college at Kirkville, Mo. After graduation, he set up practice at Bowling Green, several years later moved to Canton where he engaged in his profession. He came to Marion four years ago.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Bertha Cole, a son, John D. Cole of Barberton, and brothers, Dr. Arthur E. Cole of Springfield and Omar C. Cole of Lewiston, Pa.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p. m. in the Ramsey-Mohr funeral home in Delaware. Burial will be in Oak Grove cemetery, Delaware.

Helen Marie Mayer

Helen Marie Mayer, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Mayer of 211 Jefferson street, died at 5:32 a. m. Sunday at Marion City hospital, about four hours after birth there. She was a daughter of Delmar Mayer and Jean Coy Mayer, the father a native of Peoria, O., and the mother of Genete, Pa

Surviving with the parents are two brothers, Fred Elmer and Wayne Allen, both at home.

Funeral services were to be conducted at 11 a. m. today in the Winter funeral chapel at Richwood by Rev. E. B. Brewster, pastor of the Richwood Methodist church. Burial was to be in Claiborne cemetery.

St. Mary Cagers Defeat Columbus Holy Family, 42-40

Irish Trail at Half but Come Back To Take Second Straight Win.

The St. Mary cagers edged the Columbus Holy Family squad, 42-40, Saturday night at St. Charles gym in Columbus for their second victory in as many starts this season.

Trailing at half time, the Irish came back in the third stanza to forge into the lead and turn back a last quarter victory bid by the hard playing Columbus cagers.

Holy Family, paced by a stellar forward O'Rourke, jumped into a quick lead and at the end of the first quarter led 13-8. St. Mary's offense began to click in the second quarter and following two quick baskets by Dick Schuler and a pair of free throws by Bob Stuber, the Irish momentarily took the lead at 14-13. With three and a half minutes remaining in the second quarter and the count knotted at 18 all, Holy Family found the hoop for four two deckers from the floor while the locals were held to three free throws by Stuber and a lay-up by Dan Smith, to take a 26 to 23 edge at the half.

Tighten Up

Tightening up defensive play in the third quarter, St. Mary held the Columbus cagers, to a lone two-pointer and a pair of charity tosses while scoring fourteen points to lead at the end of the third stanza, 37-30. Schuler opened the scoring with a basket followed by Werz of Holy Family with a foul shot. Baldauf sunk two free throws and moments later another pair, followed by a set shot by Dan Smith. A free throw by Schuler, a basket by Stuber and another foul shot by Baldauf gave the Irish their seven point margin as the game entered the final period.

Holy Family came back fast in the last quarter, scoring ten points while holding St. Mary to a pair of field goals and a foul shot by Baldauf who chalked up a total of eight points for the night from the foul line.

O'Rourke Counters

O'Rourke countered from the floor for Holy Family but then fouled out of the game. Baldauf sunk the foul shot and followed later with a field goal. Dorrian hit for two points for Holy Family followed by a foul shot by Grimes of Columbus as Drake fouled him and left the game by the personal foul route. Grimes followed up his foul with a two pointer and as the tempo increased Schuler of St. Mary and Clark of Holy Family went to the showers on fouls.

With the score 42-38 in favor of St. Mary and 30 seconds remaining, Jim Moloney of St. Mary fouled out and Holy Family declined the foul, taking the ball out of bounds instead and scoring on a quick shot by Dorrian. St. Mary kept the ball for the remaining few seconds until the final gun.

In the reserve contest, the junior Irish bested the Holy Family Reserves 34-8, Joe Maniaci leading the scoring with nine points followed by Jim Cusick with six.

The Irish will meet Bucyrus tomorrow night in Bucyrus.

NOTRE DAME KEEPS HOT STOVE SIZZLING

Are Irish Greatest Team? Better Than Michigan?

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8 — Two topics seem certain to keep the football hot stove circuit sizzling long through the winter:

Is the Notre Dame team which skewered Southern California, 38-7, Saturday the greatest ever to represent the South Bend school?

Can Michigan's Big Nine champions be as good as the 1947 Irish?

Some sort of answer to the second question may be had Jan. 1 when Michigan meets Southern California—ah, those reckless Trojans!—in the Rose Bowl. But the answer probably will come too late to do the Wolverines much good.

As far as west coast experts are concerned, Notre Dame is national champion, although the final Associated Press ballot isn't out yet.

Most veteran observers agreed with Coach Frank Leahy that is "was perhaps the greatest game a Notre Dame team has ever played." And most went further than Leahy, who refused to rate his 1947 squad ahead of the 1930 team—the last all-winning Irish club. On that team, incidedntally, Leahy played tackle.

The resounding victory — Trojan heads are ringing yet — gave the South Bend Ramblers a clean sweep of a nine-game schedule, and 291 points total to opponents' 52.

Caledonia Merchants Beat Martin's, 62-49

Special to The Star

CALEDONIA, Dec. 8 — The Caledonia Merchants beat Martin's Restaurant of Columbus, 62-49, here Saturday night in the second game of a twin bill. The Merchant reserves lost to the Mt. Gilead American Legion, 43-40, in the first game.

Gene Freet led the Merchant attack with 30 points, boosting his four-game total to 68.

The Caledonia Merchants will meet an all-colored team from Columbus here next Saturday night —the Avenue Pharmacy. Last year the Pharmacy team won 52 and lost but 12 and they are hot again this season.

Pleasant Makes Sweep of 4 Games Saturday

Pleasant made a clean sweep of four basketball games at home Saturday night, the high school varsity, reserves, alumni, and the junior high school beating the Radnor invaders.

Forward Randy Dickison led the varsity team to a 40-25 win with the "Stingy Twins," guards Dick Green and Ron Gorby, holding their men to a total of two baskets. Pleasant won going away.

Ernest Temple and Jim Merchant scored seven points apiece to pace the reserves to a 23-11 triumph.

Scoring was light in the junior high game, but Pleasant came out on top, 16-9.

Mylan Gorby and Dan Zackman scored 22 points in Pleasant Alumni's 46-32 win over Radnor graduates.

Undefeated Pleasant and Caledonia cagers meet in the week's big game Friday night at Pleasant.

MAJOR LEAGUE MEET OPENS TOMORROW

Baseball David Harums May Announce 3-Way Trade.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 — The annual major league conclave does not officially begin until tomorrow, but the baseball David Harums may beat the gun with announcement of the all-but-closed three-way deal involving Dixie Walker of the Brooklyn Dodgers, Billy Cox of the Pittsburgh Pirates and Eddie Waitkus of the Chicago Cubs.

That is only one of at least a half dozen transactions of major importance that may be completed at the three-day sessions here.

Sparks are expected to fly when the magnates take up clarification of the rule restricting tampering with high school players. It was this rule which touched off the Leslie O'Connor rumpus when Commissioner A. B. Chandler fined the Chicago White Sox general manager $500 for signing a high school youth. For a while O'Connor refused to pay the fine and threatened to carry the case to the courts, but finally yielded when the American league owners upheld Chandler.

The Pacific Coast again will present its plea for big league recognition at Thursday's joint meeting.

Other matters to come before the majors are consideration of the St. Louis Browns' plea for unlimited night baseball and further discussion of a college coaches' plan to outlaw signing of college players until their class has graduated.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 — Most likely-to-be-denied story heard over the weekend is that the Big Nine family is feuding and fussing over football. . . . The main subject is Purdue's potent freshman squad. . . . Ohio State and Illinois are said to be soured on the Boilermakers because nine Purdue frosh footballers hail from Ohio and two of the better Illinois prep stars suddenly decided to enter Purdue. . . . On top of that come reports of widespread operations in Missouri by Purdue talent scouts. . . . Commissioner Tug Wilson may have been hinting at something of the sort when he recently said, without naming names, that some Big Nine schools had grown careless about recruiting. . . . If the situation is as hot as we hear, there likely will be something popping at the conference meeting late this week.

ANOTHER RUMOR relayed from the midwest is that Dartmouth will try to pick up where California left off in trying to lure Michigan's Fritz Crisler away from Ann Arbor. . . . The bait is said to be an attractive long-term contract at an attractive long figure. . . . From this corner it seems doubtful that Fritz, who served one term in the Ivy league at Princeton, will show much interest.

3 Notre Dame Gridders Tapped for Shrine Tilt

By International News Service

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8—The names of All-American quarterback Johnny Lujack and two of his Notre Dame teammates were added today to the roster of stars who will participate in the Shrine's annual East-West grid classic.

William M. Coffman, director of the charity game to be played New Years day in San Francisco's Kezar stadium, announced that the three men of Notre Dame's undefeated, untied aggregation had accepted invitations to perform on the Eastern team.

Lujack will be joined in the East lineup by the two first-string Irish tackles—Capt. George Connor and Zygmont Czarobski.

Kentucky Off To Running Start In National Basketball Race

By The United Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 8—Kentucky's basketball team was off and running like a blue grass race horse today, apparently determined to pace the nation and wipe out the bitter defeat suffered last season at the hands of Utah in the Madison Square Garden invitational.

Coach Adolph Rupp's Kentuckians, who meet DePaul Wednesday night at Louisville, steam-rolled Tulsa twice last week, winning 72-18 and 71-22.

In the Rocky Mountain area, Utah's national invitational champions started the long road toward a possible clash with Kentucky by swamping Montana State, 73-34. The Utes, with Arnie Ferrin and Vern Gardner back from last year's team, are out to wrest the Rocky Mountain conference crown from defending Wyoming.

Wyoming gets its first test against Colorado State this week, while Denver continues its eastern tour against Georgetown tonight, Hamline Wednesday and Eastern Kentucky Saturday.

Midwest Begins

Midwest teams also begin feature competition with Notre Dame scheduled at Illinois tonight, and Michigan-Western Michigan, Notre Dame-Northwestern, Minnesota-Nebraska, and Ohio State-Marquette billed Saturday.

Minnesota, a western conference favorite, got away to a bad start, losing to St. Louis last week, 50-42, while Indiana defeated DePauw, 59-43, and Wisconsin, the defending champion, beat Marquette, 57-50, in other major games.

On the Pacific coast, California will follow its 55-44 victory over San Francisco by entertaining Wisconsin in an intersectional feature, while Santa Clara meets Nevada. Unbeaten Oregon State, one of the top contenders for coast honors, continued its string Saturday with a 50-48 victory over Canisiues at Buffalo, N. Y.

Virginia entertains George Washington Wednesday and Duke Saturday, and Western Maryland plays host to William and Mary Thursday in southern headliners.

Big Card In East

In the east, Madison Square Garden begins its second week of doubleheaders. St. John's of Brooklyn, defending metropolitan champion which lost its Garden opener to Denver, meets Loyola of Chicago and City College of New York plays Oregon State Tuesday.

Thursday matches Long Island University against Oklahoma A. & M. and New York University with Arkansas, and Saturday it will be St. John's-Georgetown and C. C. N. Y.-Bowling Green.

COLUMBUS MAYOR ELECTED A.A.U. HEAD

By The Associated Press

OMAHA, Dec. 8 — James A. Rhodes, the 37-year-old second term mayor of Columbus, O., who has been working in youth movements for a good number of years, today headed the National Amateur Athletic Union with a plan to bring athletic competition to more under-privileged youth number one of his agenda.

Rhodes was elected unanimously yesterday as the annual A. A. U. convention closed here. On Saturday night he had won over Willard N. Greim of Denver, who sought a fourth term at the head of the big amateur sports organization.

Organizer of the national caddy golf tourney and the first national junior softball meet, Rhodes said. "We can not deviate from the ideals of the A. A. U., but we can expand. He explained he wanted to expand A. A. U. work in the field of youth, particularly the under-privileged, doing this as a supplement to the present board program of the union.

MORRAL ON TOP, 38-31, OVER SCHOOL FOR DEAF

Morral cagers defeated Columbus School for the Deaf, 38-31, Saturday night on the Morral court. Center Jim Weston and forward Dick Granlee scored ten points apiece for Morral.

The Morral reserves won, 36-26.

GIVE LAND TO BIRD CLUB

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Dec. 8—Mr. and Mrs. Harold T. Clark last night donated a 55-acre tract on the Chagrin river in Lake county to the Cleveland Bird Club, Inc. The land adjoins 87 acres given the club in 1945 by Mrs. Veevold Strekalovsky.

CLEVELAND INDIANS BUY INTO DAYTON

Manager Goodman Sells Out His Half Interest.

Ival Goodman sold his interest in the Dayton baseball club to the Cleveland Indians Saturday, T. J. Halligan, president of the Central league, announced Saturday, an Associated Press dispatch from Miami, Fla., said.

Goodman owned a half interest in the club which for two years operated in the Ohio State league and now has a franchise in the newly-organized inactive Central league. The new loop composed of teams in Ohio and Michigan was organized a year ago but has not yet started play. It is to be a Class A league.

Goodman who managed the Dayton club during the last half of 1946 and all of 1947 season is a former outfielder for the Cincinnati Reds.

Dayton entered the Ohio State league on loan from the Mid-Atlantic in 1946 and has not yet withdrawn from Frank Colley's newly named Ohio-Indiana circuit. The Dayton team last year had a working agreement with Bill Veeck's Cleveland Indians.

Military funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Thursday in the Hastings funeral home under the direction of Baccarat Post, American Legion, of Richwood. Rev. Wellington Mowery, a former chaplain in the U.S. Army, will officiate, and burial will be in Claiborne cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Tuesday.

ANGELS WIN TWO WEEKEND GAMES

The Marion Angels basketball team emerged victorious in two games over the weekend. On Saturday night they trounced the Oxie Rugs of Toledo, 78-46, with Wintersteller and Reams each garnering 14 points to lead the way.

The Angels held a 7 point lead at the end of the first half but with two teams going in and out of the game the second half they pulled away and the game was tucked away at the end of the third period.

On Sunday the Angels had to come from behind in last quarter to gain a 42-42 tie score as the period ended with a big, tall and rough Birmingham team. In the overtime the Angels had a basket scored against them and then the boys from Marion garnered 7 points to sew up the game and come out on top, 49-46. Wintersteller with 12 and Harbolt with 10 led the Angels while Weber got 16 for the losers.

This now makes the Angels record read four wins and one loss.

Reversing Decision Out of the Question

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 8—A contention that Jersey Joe Walcott should be declared heavyweight boxing champion of the world over Joe Louis was to be laid before the New York Boxing commission today with every indication that if Jersey Joe gets the title he'll have to fight for it again.

Commission Chairman Eddie Eagan has already indicated that he will listen and that's about all. For him to reverse the decision of the judges is virtually out of the question, observers insisted.

Walcott Offered Bout With Joey Maxim

By The United Press

WHEELING, W. Va., Dec. 8—Jersey Joe Walcott was offered a $25,000 guarantee to meet Cleveland's Joey Maxim in a 10-round bout here by the Fifty Sportsmen's club last night.

City Firemen Called Out on Three Runs

Firemen responded to three fire calls yesterday and today, two of which were false alarms.

The first was yesterday at 3:07 p. m. when a passerby saw steam escaping from the McMillen Feed Co., 751 East Farming street and thought it was smoke from a fire inside the building. Firemen from the East Mark street station and the quad truck from Central station responded.

A short circuit in the battery cable of a car owned by George Parish of 378 South Main street set fire to the seat cushions at 5:55 p. m. yesterday causing an estimated damage of $25. Firemen from the West Center street station responded to where the car was parked at Davids and Columbia street.

At 10:02 a. m. today firemen were called to the home of Mrs. Clara Oswalt of 199 Olney avenue when a pedestrian noticed smoke coming from under the house. The family had rebuilt the furnace fire shortly before and carried the clinkers outside. Smoke from the coals blew under the house coming out from under the front porch. Engines No. 1 and 4 answered the call.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 8—Recoveries were fairly well sprinkled over today's stock market although many leaders remained more or less indifferent.

Early bidding, mostly of a professional nature, was based on the idea that the list was entitled to a technical comeback after hitting an average low since last June.

Ahead at intervals were U. S. Steel, Republic Steel, Follansbee Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Oliver Corp., Deere, American Telephone, Western Union, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge, New Haven preferred (on I.C.C. approval of a fare boost), Great Northern Railway and Southern Railway.

Occasional stumblers were Goodyear, Bethlehem Steel, Douglas Aircraft, Youngstown Sheet, Kennecott, Westinghouse, General Electric, Allied Chemical, Philip Morris, Air Reduction and Baltimore and Ohio.

The kindliness of the family that cared for Mary prior to the birth of Christ and the cause for the journey to Bethlehem which She and Joseph made are revealed in "Go And Be Counted," the third in the Christmas Cycle series of the ABC broadcast of The Greatest Story Ever Told to be heard Sunday, Dec. 14, at 6:30 p. m. Sunday's dramatization shows Mary in the home of her cousin, Elizabeth, and tells the story also of the birth of John the Baptist, who was "born before Him to herald His coming."

"Go And Be Counted" is based on the narration in Luke 1:56-79 and Matthew 1:20-24.

For the 12th time in his long radio career, Lionel Barrymore on Christmas Eve will be heard as "Scrooge" when Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" is presented at 8 p. m., over ABC. The traditional Christmas story will replace the regular weekly ABC broadcast of "Mayor of the Town."

All times given are Eastern Standard Time. Erroneous listings, if any, are caused by last-minute changes made by stations and networks.

STEEL INDUSTRY AIMS TO SLOW UP ORDERS

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Dec 8—Steelmakers "loaded with more orders than they can handle expeditiously" are "discouraging buyers in their drive for more tonnage, especially where a disposition is shown to build up stocks unduly," said the magazine Steel today.

Consumers of steel are "showing increasing concern over future supplies" and pressing for metal and order bookings said the magazine, because of "apprehension over the possibility of government allocations as well as the effect of the Marshall plan on domestic supplies."

The "assurances from Washington" that direct exports of steel under the Marshall plan will be "no heavier" than heretofore have left consumers uncertain over the possible indirect effects from the shipment of machinery and equipment abroad said Steel. It predicted that congress probably will not grant "broad controls over domestic distribution of steel products."

On a percentage basis the national steelmaking rate rose one point last week to 97.5 per cent of rated capacity highest since June 1941. The schedule was equivalent to 1 710 000 net tons of ingots and castings the highest tonnage rate in peacetime history.

Steel said the stalemate continues in scrap prices and no immediate change in base prices on steel products appears likely. Pig iron is "in critical supply" and the supply prospects in most lines remain tight, it added.

MEEKER SOCIETY MEETS

The W S C S of Meeker Methodist church held an all-day meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs Lucille Wilson west of Meeker. Mrs Marie Anderson president presided and plans were made to knot comforts for relief. A program was in charge of Mrs Mary Owen and Mrs Lester Berlin. Mrs Cora Barnhouse and Mrs Mary Thibaut were guests. Installation of officers will be held at the next meeting Jan 8 at the home of Mrs Doris Sippington and Mrs Della Sappington, east of Meeker.

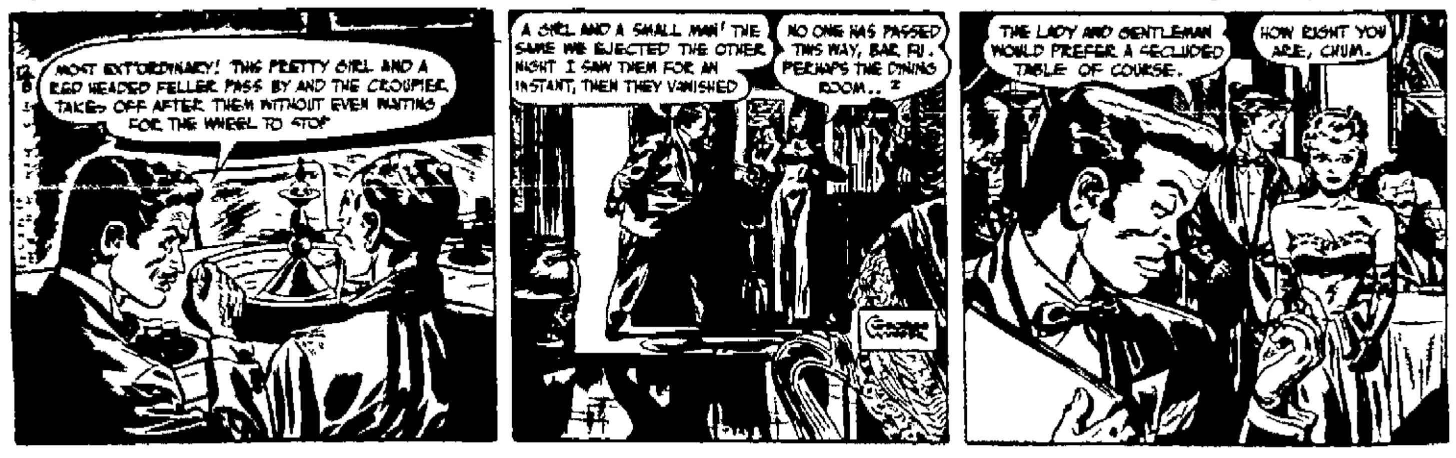
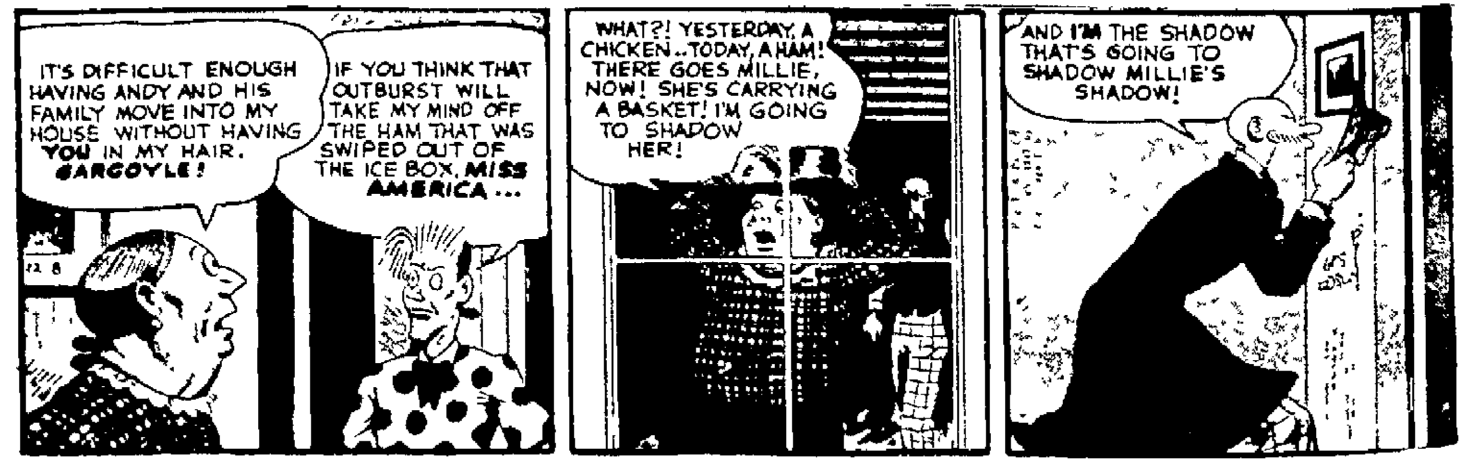
Terry and the Pirates By George Wunder



MOST EXTORDINARY! THIS PRETTY GIRL AND A RED HEADED FELLER PASS BY AND THE CROUPIER TAKES OFF AFTER THEM WITHOUT EVEN WAITING FOR THE WHEEL TO STOP
A GIRL AND A SMALL MAN! THE SAME WE EJECTED THE OTHER NIGHT. I SAW THEM FOR AN INSTANT, THEN THEY VANISHED
NO ONE HAS PASSED THIS WAY, BAR RI. PERHAPS THE DINING ROOM..?
THE LADY AND GENTLEMAN WOULD PREFER A SECLUDED TABLE OF COURSE.
HOW RIGHT YOU ARE, CHUM.

The Gumps By Gus Edson



IT'S DIFFICULT ENOUGH HAVING ANDY AND HIS FAMILY MOVE INTO MY HOUSE WITHOUT HAVING YOU IN MY HAIR. GARGOYLE!
IF YOU THINK THAT OUTBURST WILL TAKE MY MIND OFF THE HAM THAT WAS SWIPED OUT OF THE ICE BOX, MISS AMERICA...
WHAT?! YESTERDAY, A CHICKEN..TODAY, A HAM! THERE GOES MILLIE, NOW! SHE'S CARRYING A BASKET! I'M GOING TO SHADOW HER!
